SHALL WE BREAK NATION'S PLEDGE.

President McKinley Bent on Cuban Annexation.

NOW PREPARING A PLAN.

EXPECTS THE ISLAND TO VOTE AGAINST INDEPENDENCE.

His Confidence Is Based on Reports Made by Gen. Wood and on Letters Received From Havana Merchants.

PLEDGE MADE BY CONGRESS.

"That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination, when that is accomplished, to leave the government and control of the island to its people."—Fourth paragraph of the resolutions empowering the President to drive Spain out of Cuba, passed by Congress April 19, 1898.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Shall it be independence or annexation?

President McKinley is working energetically upon a plan to submit this question to the people of Cuba. He believes that they would vote for annexation.

Reports from Governor-General Brooke indicate a contrary view, but the President has received confidential letters from influential representatives of commercial interests and from other sources in and about Havana which have convinced him that Gen. Brooke is mistaken, and that the people in the Western portion of the island, as well as those in the Eastern portion, would gladly vote for a territorial government under the greater republic.

These confidential reports reveal a good deal more discord among the American provincial rulers than is usually believed to exist. The policy applied to the government of the provinces in the Western end of the island—Pinar del Rio, Havana and Matanzas—which are directly under the supervision of Gen. Brooke, is, for instance, radically different from that inaugurated by Gen. Leonard Wood, military commander of Santiago.

The government of Santiago is looked upon by the President as more desirable than that in the Western provinces. Gen. Wood, while here recently, made a personal report to the President, who indorsed his policy and urged its continuance.

Gen. Wood made many suggestions which will be published for the guidance of the commanders of other Cuban Provinces.

The President inquired particularly as to the extent of the sentiment for and against annexation.

"I am firmly convinced," said Gen. Wood, "that annexation would be carried by four to one in Santiago. The people of that province, and I believe of the majority of other provinces, do not want independence. They have realized many benefits from the temporary government we have given them, and are anxious to secure these benefits permanently.

"I have encouraged American enterprises in Santiago by giving Americans the preference. I do not believe there has reached you from Santiago the complaints of discrimination against Americans that come from Havana.

"Americans who have established themselves in Santiago and endeavored to extend their operations to other provinces tell me that they have been repulsed by the American commanders and that English enterprises have been given the preference.'

Complaints of the unwarranted consideration shown European enterprises in Havana and other Western provinces, to the detriment of American interests, have reached the President from many sources, and it is not improbable that a change in the administration of the Cuban Government will soon be made.

The Post-Dispatch is informed upon very high authority that the President desires Gen. Brooke's attendance in Washington in the capacity of confidential advisor, and is contemplating the substitution in his place of Gen. Wood, Governor-General of Cuba.

So strong is the President's tendency toward annexation that it is expected that an effort will made in Congress at the coming session to rescind the resolution providing for Cuban independence and to substitute a plan by which the matter may be submitted to a vote of the people of the island.

YELLOW FEVER AT PANAMA.

The Worst Outbreak of the Disease on the Isthmus in Many Years.

NEW YORK, July 11.—According to the Colon Starlet of June 20, which reached the city to-day by the steamer Finance, it has been many years since the Panama Isthmus has been visited with such an outbreak of yellow fever as had been prevailing in the city of Panama. From May 2 to June 13 there had been 34 cases of the disease, of which 18 had been fatal. On June 20 there was 13 new cases, two of which proved fatal. At the time of publication the fever was on the decrease and in the city of Colon there had not been a single case, notwithstanding the daily intercourse between the two cities.

MANSFIELD, O., July 11.—Hon. John Sherman's condition is improved. He takes a ride daily. Since the illness of three weeks ago he has rapidly improved.

A RECORD BREAKING TRIP.

Steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse Crossed the Ocean in 5:20:55.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse arrived at Cherbourg at 2:45 yesterday afternoon in the record-breaking time of 5 days, 20 hours and 55 minutes.

Her average time was 22.63 knots, as against her best previous record of 22.50.

CARRIED A BABE THROUGH FIRE.

Remarkable Heroism of Little May Oswinkle.

CHILD SAVED AN INFANT.

DAIRYMAN'S HOUSE AND BARNS DESTROYED.

Fourteen-Year-Old Girl Ran With Her Baby Sister Through a Sea of Flame That Enveloped the Stairway

A slip of a girl, clad in a short pink wrapper, her bare feet encased in a pair of old shoes, dug industriously among the ruins of Henry Oswinkle's home Tuesday morning. She was searching for her own trinkets lost in the fire of the early morning.

This girl, May Oswinkle, aged 14 years, is as justly entitled to the distinction ofheroism as an who risked life to save life. She faced a wall of fire with her baby sister in her arms, covered the infant's face in her own dress and plunged blindly through the flames to safety.

Mrs. Oswinkle, the mother, saved one child, but the fire then had not gained such headway.

The destruction of the home, barn and shed of Dairyman Henry Oswinkle and the barn and sheds of his neighbor, George Berker, between 3 and 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, was attended by other remarkable incidents.

The homes and stables of Oswinkle and Berker are south of Florissant avenue and just east of Marcus. A lane from Marcus is the sole avenue to the houses. At 2:20 o'clock Tuesday morning Berker's hired man hitched up his horse at the stable door and started to town with the milk wagon. He had reached Hoehn's Grove, nearly a mile away, before a bright light behind him attracted his attention. He could not locate the fire and drove on downtown. He says he hitched his horse without a light.

DIAGRAM OF THE SCENE OF THE FIRE

The brilliant glow this driver saw was the fire then eating its way through the roof of Oswinkle's house.

Barney Albens works for Oswinkle, and sleeps in an addition built for that purpose, to the house. Albens says he was wakened by being burned and found his bed on fire. The roaring and crackling in the barn, the cries of the imprisoned horses and the fierce heat made this farmer boy act quickly. He dumped his trunk out of the window, then followed it to the ground.

A glance showed him that to attempt to rescue the horses would be folly, and besides their cries were ceasing. Berker's barns were gone, and Oswinkle's were beyond saving.

Albens turned to the house. It was dark and he was startled to find the door locked. The family was yet sleeping. Even then the eaves were on fire, and a blaze was spreading over the shingled roof as though it were so much prairie grass. The hired man pounded the door, shouted Oswinkle's name, called for Berker, and yelled fire with all his might, but those hardworking, healthy people sleep soundly, and neither Albens' efforts nor the fire's roar disturbed them.

Then Barney took other action. Collecting stones of fair size, he threw them through the windows of Oswinkle's sleeping room. The crashing of the glass roused Mrs. Oswinkle, and the husband, noting the fire's light, and believing his services were demanded by a neighbor, rushed downstairs and threw open the door.

The fire had come through the roof, and this open door made a draught. Before Oswinkle could return to the second floor the stairway was on fire. He frantically yelled to his wife. With great rapidity the flames spread over the house. As Mrs. Oswinkle stumbled through the smoke and falling fire brands, bearing one small child, she cried for May, whose room was in the rear. The girl responded.

"Save the baby! I can't see," said Mrs. Oswinkle, as she half ran, half fell down the burning stairway to the open air.

May is a brave girl and without hesitating she groped her way into her mother's room across it to the bed, where the baby lay, nearly choked by smoke and tears.

Burying its little face in her own thin gown, May fought her way back to the stairway. To the girl the attempt to descend looked like courting death. High, thick flames shut off the way to the door. The fire had reached the parent's apartment; it was impossible to reach that. The girl and babe were surounded by fire.

On the outside the Berkers had been aroused by the clear-headed Albers and were gathered about the Oswinkles. Both parents thought May and the babe were dead. Mrs. Oswinkle cried hysterically on Mrs. Berker's shoulder, while Albers and Berker held Oswinkle in firm hands to prevent him from going to his death by entering the burning dwelling.

As they held him the first clang, sharp and clear, of the fire engines came from the hilltop toward the city. Oswinkle groaned. They would be too late. The same sound may have reached the ears, or the same despair entered the soul of the slim, weak child, holding the babe tight in her arms while about her the fire crept closer and closer.

The one chance in a million for life was to act, and, throwing one arm across her face, the girl plunged down the steps into the fire and on out to the yard and into the arms of Barney Albers. Her hair was singed some, and in tow or three places her dress was on fire, but the tiny flames were quickly extinguished.

The joy of the parents was unutterable. They simply clasped the children in their arms and cried.

The loss is estimated at $3500, uninsured.

CITY WATER STOLEN.

USED TO SPRINKLE THE STREETS OF LUXEMBURG.

AUTHORITIES INVESTIGATING.

The Complaint Was Made to Many Officials Before Any Action Was Taken.

Complaint has reached the Post-Dispatch that city water was being used to sprinkle the streets of the little village of Luxemburg, St. Louis County, and that the sprinkling was being done by one of the St. Louis sprinkling contractors.

The statement is made that the citiezns of Luxemburg are charged from $2 to $8 a month for this service.

Inquiry at the City Hall at first failed to bring forth the least information regarding the alleged cause of the complaint, but an investigation was started which promised to develop a case of water stealing.

Street Commissioner Varrelmann was applied to first.

"The police ought to give us information about such things if they really occur," he said. "If the policemen see the city carts leaving and returning to the city, they should let us know about it."

"Shouldn't the sprinkling inspectors let you know about it, too?" he was asked.

"Yes, if they see it," he replied, as though it was not customary for a sprinkling inspector to see such things.

However, Mr. Varrelmann made a memorandum of the complaint and said he would investigate. He said possibly the street sprinkling department might have some information about the case.

Although it was nearly 11 o'clock, neither Sprinkling Superintendent Louis, alias "Tub" Becker, nor his clerk, Thos. Clarkson, was in the office. The young man who was acting as clerk said he knew nothing about the case and had no means of leaning whether it were true or not. He consulted a map to find out where Luxemburg was. He suggested that Water Commissioner Flad might know something about the case.

Water Commissioner Flad said he didn't know anything about the case and advised the reporter to see Water Rates Assessor Hemmelmann. Mr. Hemmelmann, when appealed to, said he knew nothing, but he would investigate. So he took a memorandum of the complaint.

When Mr. Varrelmann investigated he was told by Superintendent Becker that a permit had been issued for the use of city water in sprinkling Luxemburg. Mr. Varrelmann referred the case to Water Commissioner Flad.

Water Commissioner Flad referred the case to Ben Adkins, superintendent of distribution. Mr. Adkins put inspectors on the case, and, as thefts of water are frequent, he expects to prosecute this offender.

TROOPS FOR PORCUPINE REGION

Canada Will Send Soldiers to the Territory in Dispute and Uncle Will Follow Suit.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The State Department has been advised that the Canadian Government is about to send troops to the Porcupine region, in Alaska, the territory now in dispute between the United States and England. If this is correct, the Administration, according to a high official, will send troops to Pyramid Harbor also.

LONDON, July 11.—The officials of the Colonial Office, when questioned to-day regarding the special dispatch from Washington published in a New York newspaper, saying the Canadian Government had decided to send a body of mounted police to the Porcupine region, near the Lynn Canal in Alaska, to maintain order, which, it was intimated, would result in the Government of the United States sending troops to occupy Pyramid Harbor, absolutely denied that there was any possibility of Canada contravening Great Britain's pledge to keep out Canadian police from the disputed strip if the United States Government agreed not to send troops to Pyramid Harbor. The Colonial Office officials added that if any police had been dispatched it would be found that they are the regular reliefs for the Northwest posts and that certainly no other forces had been dispatched to Alaska.

THEY BOTH HAD GOOD NERVE

Thief Secures $1400 From Four Men and Is Arrested Later by a Policeman Whom He Had Shot.

PEORIA, Ill., July 11.—Bert Meadows, who was a few weeks ago released from the Southern Penitentiary at Chester, Ill., last night held J. A. Mettier and three occupants of his store at bay with a revolver and secured $1400. The robber backed out of a side door. He was pursued by a crowd, among whom was Officer Herman Damm. Meadows shot Damm in the neck. Then, in attempting to fire a second time, he shot himself in the arm. The plucky officer succeeded in getting his prisoner to the nearest patrol box, where he was taken in charge by other officers. Damm will recover.

YELLOW FEVER IN CUBA,

Reports Show 122 Cases at Santiago With 24 Deaths at Santiago, Including Four Officers.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Surgeon-General Sternberg has received two cables from Major O'Rielly, chief surgeon at Havana, regarding the yellow fever situation. In the first he says:

Harvard at Santiago telegraphs revised list to-day, showing 122 cases with 24 deaths, including four officers, Fabricius, Clendennin, McLaughlin and Heatwole; also 20 civilian cases and five deaths. No cases in camp in last three days. Headquarters ordered to interior.

The other dispatch reports two additional cases of yellow fever at Manzanillo, five in all.

Chicago Syndicate Invests at Pana.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PANA, Ill., July 11.—The plant of the Pana Modern Electric Light and Street Railway Co., with the telephone franchise, was to-day sold by the stockholders to a Chicago syndicate for $75,000. The new firm will make many improvements.

STOPPED HIM ON A BRIDGE.

Geo. W. McClure Robbed of His Day's Collections.

KNOCKED DOWN BY THIEVES.

BOLD ASSAULT AT EIGHTEENTH STREET.

Two Highwaymen, in Sight of Passing Pedestrians, Fought McClure Fiercely and Secured $60 in Cash.

George W. McClure of 2704 Locust street, who is a collector for the Singer Manufacturing Co., was knocked down and robbed of $60 on the Eighteenth street bridge at about 9:45 Monday night.

The robbery was as bold as any that has come to the knowledge of the police in recent years. It occurred at a place that is well lighted and at a time when there were pedestrians almost within seeing distance.

Mr. McClure was returning home from a business trip to Fifteenth and Gratiot streets. He carried in his pockets his collections of the day, amounting to $60 and some cents. He walked north on the west side of the bridge. When opposite one of the bridge pillars that rises above the roadway, about 200 feet south of the north end, McClure observed two men standing in the shadow. The men at once stepped in front of him.

One of them asked McClure the time of night. He replied that he did not know and attempted to pass on. The man who had inquired the time struck McClure between the eyes, dazing him and causing him to fall backwards. The second man then struck him on the back of the head.

McClure fell, but retained consciousness. The robbers hastily searched his pockets and took his money. They climbed over the guard rail and disappeared from McClure's sight. There is a telegraph pole rising from the ground above the bridge at the point where the robbery occurred. It is supposed the footpads climbed down the pole to the railroad yards.

Dr. Eugene R. Waterhouse of 1103 Dolman street and his wife, who were crossing the bridge from the north end about 9:50, found McClure lying in a semi-conscious condition. The doctor revived McClure, and the latter told the physician of the robbery.

Several other pedestrians as well as two or three street cars passed the spot before McClure had sufficiently recovered from the effects of the blows to proceed. The robbers had left him without a penny. Dr. Waterhouse gave him 10 cents and McClure rode to the Four Courts and reported the robbery to the police.

THEY WANT MORE ARMY LIFE.

Fifty-Three Men Applied at the Recruiting Station for Enlistment as Soldiers.

There seems to be no lack of men anxious to enlist and re-enlist in the volunteer army. When the recruiting office opened at Third and Olive streets at 8 o'clock Tuesday there was not a man in sight, but between that and 10 o'clock 53 men had applied. That was all that could be handled in one day, so a notice was posted directing others to come back Wednesday morning.

Of the 53 23 brought discharge papers, as regulars or volunteers. They had all been discharged within three months and wanted more of army life.

Chief Clerk Valentine said 14 men would be sent to Leavenworth Wednesday night to join the Thirty-second Regiment; six to Jefferson Barracks to join the cavalry and two to San Francisco.

Mr. Valentine expected that out of the 53 about 30 would be accepted.

FAIR AND WARM WEATHER

No Indication of Any Appreciable Change in Temperature for Several Days Yet.

There is no cooler weather in sight for St. Louis. It will continue fair Tuesday night and Wednesday and remain warm. There is no rain on the map. There may be a thunder shower or two, but they will not cool the atmosphere.

The only consolation held out by the weather man is that it is not likely to get any warmer. Some people may also derive consolation from the fact that it is warm all over the country.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

FAIR.

St. Louis—Generally fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; continued warm.

Missouri and Illinois—The same predictions.

Mississippi—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday night, with showers on the Gulf; partly cloudy Wednesday; light to fresh northeasterly winds.

Eastern Texas—Threatening Tuesday night, with showers on the gulf; threatening Wednesday; variable winds.

Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday night; threatening Wednesday, with showers in western portion; variable winds.

Arkansas—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday night; threatening Wednesday; variable winds.

Indiana—Fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; continued warm; variable winds; mostly southerly.

Iowa—Fair Tuesday night and Wednesday, except thunder storms in western portion; continued warm; southerly winds.

Kansas—Generally fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; continued warm; southerly winds.

Tennessee and Kentucky—Fair Tuesday night; increasing cloudiness Wednesday; variable winds.

Stage of Water.

The gauge at St. Louis Tuesday morning registered 23.8 feet, a rise of one-half a foot. The river at St. Louis will fall slowly after to-night.

BARTHOLDT IN BERLIN.

(Photographed by cable from the German capital.)

BERLIN, July 9.—Congressman Bartholdt is here, and intends to interview Emperor William, as he says, if it takes all summer. He states that he has an unofficial mission from Secretary of State Hay at Washington to convey to the German Government, the assurance that at no time has the United States contemplated forming an alliance with Great Britain.

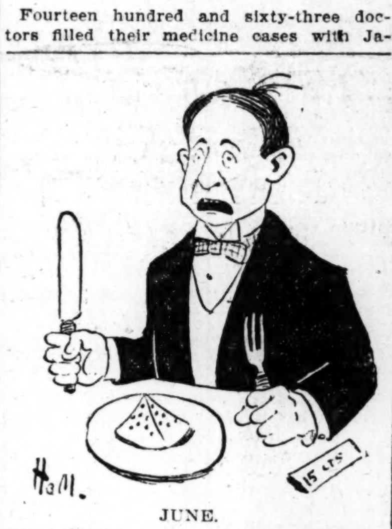
THE MISSOURI MELON,

HOME-GROWN VARIETY APPEARS ON THE MARKET NOW.

RIPE, RICH AND LUSCIOUS.

Many Carloads Arrived Tuesday, and Henceforth the City Will Enjoy Its Summer Treat.

Fourteen hundred and sixty-three doctors filled their medicine cases with Jamaica ginger and other like remidies Tuesday morning. Why? Because the Missouri homegrown watermelon had come to town by the carload, bringing colic in allopathic doses with it, and the medicine men knew they would be needed ere nightfall.



JUNE.

JULY.

The Missouri melon is a bit late this year. The Fourth of July is his legitimate day of advent. At that time, with the booming of cannon and the rattle of musketry and small arms, he comes in all his triumph. The backward spring delayed him this year, but made him all the more welcome, despite the sarcastic references of the pessimists, to "Death's delight," "Undertakers' alley," and so on.

AUGUST.

After all, there isn't anything that quite takes the place of the homegrown watermelon.

Of course, the Georgia product is fine, early in the season, but it is plucked half ripe and is tasteless and pale. It's not like the ripe, luscious, red-meated affair that is on the market to-day; the one that goes "plunk" when you rap it and whose rich carmine, black seeds and green skin make a picture of coolness, content and general attractiveness that the hand of man has never equaled.

Here's to the Missouri watermelon; may it grow large and luscious!

CROW HAS NOT COMPROMISED.

Fate of the Insurance Companies in Combine in the Hands of the Supreme Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 11.—It has been persistently reported that Attorney-General Crow had agreed with the ousted insurance companies, under the decision of the Supreme Court for violation of the anti-trust law, to consent to a modification of the order to allow them to continue business on payment of a fine and the filing of certificates and affidavits that they have dissolved their Western Union and that they would in the future obey the anti-trust law. To-day Attorney-General Crow stated that a proposition of that character had been made to him, but that he had not accepted it; that the matter was in the hands of the Supreme Court, and that it alone had power to act. He thinks the companies should reduce rates in this State for insurance. They made a stubborn resistance to the suit in the court, and now he feels that they should be punished. The offer to accept a fine of $250 each for the 73 companies would bring into the State Treasury nearly $20,000 for the school fund where all fines of this character go.

It is not true as reported from Chicago that Attorney-General Crow has offered to compromise with the foreign insurance companies ruled out of the state by the recent Supreme Court anti-trust decision, by allowing them to resume business upon payment of $100 fines and their promise not to enter into any rate agreement.

Attorney Given Campbell, who, with Major James R. Waddill represented the 73 insurance companies in the suit recently decided, says no such proposition has been made by the Attorney-General.

"Personally," he said, "I am of the opinion that the companies would be very glad to come back on such terms, but no argument has been reached. The matter was talked of between us and the Attorney-General when we filed a motion for a rehearing the other day, but nothing was determined and I am positive the Attorney-General has made no such proposition to the companies.

"In order that the companies may resume business on any terms, the Supreme Court's order would have to be modified. The court may, of its own volition, modify its order, but nobody, except the judges, knows when they will do this. The Attorney-General could suggest such a modification, or we could suggest it, but the court would finally have to determine what is to be done."

Many insurance agents confidently expect that some such result as has been suggested will follow.

WANTS OF MISSOURIANS.

Call at the White House to Press Claims for Commissions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Congressman Joy and Chairman Thomas J. Aikens of the Republican State Committee, accompanied by Capt. John H. Goldman and John A. Porter of St. Louis, who is an applicant for a lieutenant's commission in the volunteer army, called at the White House this forenoon to see the President concerning additional army appointments for Missouri.

Although it was Cabinet day, the President received the delegation, listened to the suggestions of Congressman Joy and Chairman Aikens and promised to take the application they presented under consideration.

They filed with the President these new applications: J. J. Mayes of St. Louis, formerly captain in the Seventh Immunes, first lieutenant; Clay C. McDonald of St. Joseph, formerly major in the Fourth Missouri, captain; D. Milburn, formerly lieutenant Sixth Missouri, first lieutenant; David M. Dodge, captain; Archie W. Brent, formerly lieutenant Sixth Missouri, second lieutenant; A. Miller, any commission that will take him to the Philippines; Theo. Schultz, formerly captain Sixth Missouri, lieutenant; A. J. Jacobs, lieutenant; R. M. Whiting of St. Louis, lieutenant; John A. Porter of St. Louis, lieutenant; George Shields, lieutenant.

President McKinley told his callers that he was pleased with the desire of the Missourians to serve their country in the Philippines and would do what he could for them.

FIRE AND PANIC IN A TENEMENT.

Five Persons Fatally Injured in a New York Building.

EIGHT OVERCOME BY SMOKE.

POSSIBLY THE LATTER WILL ALL RECOVER.

There Were Sixteen Families in the House, Which Was Five Stories in Height; Good Work by Firemen Saved Many Lives.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Fire in a crowded five-story tenement in Monroe street this morning resulted in fatal injuries to five persons and the overcoming by smoke of eight others. The fatally injured are as follows:

Miss Rebecca Basek.

Rose Basek, her daughter, 12 years old, inhaled fire.

Mrs. Tillie Silver, burned on head and body.

Rosie Silver, her daughter, 6 years old, burned on head and body.

Sam London, who boarded with the Silver family, burned on head and body, and inhaled flames.

Those who were severely injured but will probably recover are:

Harris Basek, an expressman, severely burned about the arms and face and legs.

His five children, Becky, aged 17, overby smoke; Hannah, aged 14, overcome come by smoke; Pauline, aged 15, overcome by smoke; Katie, aged 3 years, unconscious from smoke; Ade, aged 8 years, suffering slightly from smoke.

Harris Silver, tailor, hands and arms burned and hair singed.

Tillie Silver, aged 4 years, overcome by smoke.

The fire started in the apartments of Max Press, a coat operator, who lived with his family and a boarder named Jacob Koplan, on the fourth floor. All of this household escaped.

There were 16 families in the house.

It is not known just how the fire started. Press admitted that he went to bed leaving the lamp burning and that he and his boarder, Koplan, were smoking cigarettes, and the firemen believe that the men must have gone to sleep with lighted cigarettes in their mouths and that the bedding caught fire. Press' hair was singed by the flames. The damage is slight.

The active efforts of the firemen alone saved all the occupants from death.

TOBACCO TAG IN HER THROAT

One-Year-Old Gertrude Henning Suffered Ten Days, but the Tag Was Successfully Removed.

A large tobacco tag was removed from the throat of 1-year-old Gertrude Henning at the City Hospital Tuesday. She swallowed it 11 days ago and suffered intense pain until it was dislodged.

Her parents live at 8424 Minnesota avenue. They say Gertrude was playing on the floor of their home when she saw a tobacco tag. She crawled to where it lay and, picking it up, did what all babies do with everything they take in their hands—put it in her mouth. Her mother saw her place the tag between her lips and ran to her to prevent her from swallowing it. But it passed into her throat before Mrs. Henning reached her.

The child was taken to a physician immediately and he administered treatment, but after 10 days, he said he could do nothing.

Gertrude's suffering became so great Monday that he advised Mrs. Henning to take her to the City Hospital for surgical treatment.

Dr. Nietert made an examination and discovered that the tag had lodged in the child's throat. He quickly extracted it with a pair of forceps and Gertrude was instantly relieved.

FRANK ROY HAS LOCKJAW.

Will Probably Die of a Wound Sustained While Celebrating the Fourth.

The name of Frank Roy, a laborer of 18 South Fifteenth street, will probably be added to the list of Fourth of July fatalities

He was taken to the City Hospital Monday night, suffering from lock-jaw caused by a gun-shot wound which he received in his left hand during the celebration on that day. His attending physician says the chances are against his recovery.

Roy says he was celebrating with several of his friends near his home. All had pistols and were shooting blank cartridges. A pistol in the hands of a friend who was standing beside Roy was prematurely discharged and a wad or a piece of shell struck his hand, causing a painful wound. He went to the Dispensary for treatment. The wound was dressed and he gave it no more attention until Monday when his jaw began to hurt him. Becoming alarmed, he again went to the Dispensary where his case was diagnosed as titanus. He was sent to the City Hospital where a new treatment which has been successful in 32 cases out of 33, was tried. But his physician said Tuesday that he was much worse.

HELD HIM WHILE HE SHOT HIM

Texan, It Is Charged, Killed an Officer With His Own Revolver on a Train.

WACO, Tex., July 11.—S. R. M. Conley, Deputy Sheriff of Bosque County, was killed on an excursion train between Morgan and Walnut Springs while trying to arrest Ed Burrow, of Hico, who had drawn a pistol on a passenger. Burow grabbed the officer's pistol, and turned the muzzle of the weapon to Conley's side, discharging it. Burrow is held for murder.

Conley maintained until the last that he had not cocked his pistol, and that it was cocked by Burrow.

CARING FOR THE FLOOD VICTIMS.

This Is the Problem Confronting Texas Now.

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE NEEDED.

TEN THOUSAND PERSONS RESCUED BY MEANS OF BOATS.

Proffers of Assistance Are Coming From All the Cities of the Southwest, but a Large Sum Will Be Required.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 11.—In many ports of the inundated valley, embracing 13 counties, the land is beginning to peep above the water. In some sections, along the tributaries of the Brazos, the flood is receding rapidly.

The flood started on the upper Brazos, about 1000 miles from the Gulf, on Wednesday week. Since that time the entire district tributary to the Brazos River has been deluged. For the first four days the flood was confined to the territory lying between Calvert and Hempstead. Since then the waters, in passing to the Gulf, flooded all the country from Hempstead to the mouth of the Brazos at Velasco, with the result that while the situation has been gradually improving from Hempstead north during the past four days it has been growing worse south of Hempstead. The lands south of Hempstead are so low and the water will spread out over so much ground that it cannot possibly do the damage that it did on the upper Brazos. While the people north of Hempstead were suffering in tree tops and on houses, the people south of Hempstead had not felt the advancing flood. With the receding of the waters above came the trouble to those below. They had been warned, however, and most of them made their escape.

North of Hearne the worst is over, and the people are returning to their homes in the bottoms, where they find everytning wrecked and ruined. Willing hands, however, will overcome these difficulties. South of that point to the gulf the floods have wrough sad hovoc during the past three days, but to-day's reports from these sections are to the effect that the waters have about run their course, and it is believed that from now on more cheering reports will be forthcoming from every section.

It is highly probable that the flood sufferers will have to be cared for by public charity for another week or ten days, but after that it is believed they can return to their farms and begin to rebuild their homes. The charity of the State and the friends from without has been without a parallel in the Southwest. Everything has been offered the flood sufferers, from money to lumber with which to rebuild their homes and farm fences.

The losses, exposure and hunger have left so many in wretched physical condition that many of them are sick, and not a few may possibly die from these causes, but not if tender attention and public charity can prevent it.

Hundreds of people were reported missing at the opening of the floods who have since been located in tree tops, on the tops of submerged houses and on temporary islands formed by knolls, and all rescued. Since last Wednesday it is estimated thatt fully 10,000 people have been taken from the river bottoms in boats. They are all new members of that army of refugees who, having sought refuge earlier in the action in safe places, have nothing at all to live on. Subsequent reports may increase the death list, but it is hardly probable.

The first news from the Brazoria County section of the Brazos Valley, from which all connection by rail and wire had been cut off, was received last night. It came from Columbia and states that the river is still rising there, and that the town has been overflowed and the waters are two feet higher than any previous flood. The town of Columbia has about 800 or 1000 inhabitants. Brazoria, eight miles south of Columbia, is, like Columbia, right on the banks of the river. It has about 600 inhabitants. There are many fine plantations within half a dozen miles of the stream on either side of the river, and they are all under water.

Within 36 hours the crest of the flood will have reached the gulf, and before the week closes many of the Lower Brazos refugees will be moving back to the homes from which they were driven by the waters.

A member of the Relief Committee said to-day:

"We have funds and the committee will go ahead supplying the immediate necessities of the sufferers. But there must be 25,000 or 30,000 homeless and destitute people in the flooded districts and they will have to be fed a good while. In my opinion $100,000 will not be enough to meet this urgent demand from helpless people. I had some experience myself at Columbus in feeding flood sufferers and I know that it did not take long to get rid of $20,000 worth of food supplies.

"We will be glad to receive still further contributions, and we will need them. There are so many destitute people to be fed, and the prospects are that they will have to be fed for a long time, that it is apparent a great deal of money will be required. I believe when this is understood thoroughly there will be a liberal response."

The number of bales of cotton raised in 1895 in the thirteen counties affected by the overflow of 1899 as taken from the ninth annual report of the State Agricultural Bureau, which was issued in November, 1898, was 327,033. These thirteen counties for 1898 raised at least 400,000 bales of cotton.

Many planters place the loss at one-third, others one-fourth and some at one-half.

Others claim the crop is ruined. An estimate of 50 per cent loss is conservative. This would be $5,000,000.

The money loss sustained by the destruction of other crops, houses, fencing, stock and county bridges is about $2,500,000, while the loss to railroads is probably $7,000,000. A total loss of $9,500,000 would be considered conservative.

Anna Gould's Titled Husband Makes Himself Absurd.

NOT CHALLENGED MONACO.

CASTELLANE GENERALLY HELD IN CONTEMPT.

Paris Papers Print a Cablegram He Sent to an Actress on the Day He Married the Gould Millions.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Company.

PARIS, July 11.—Count Boni de Castellane, who married Anna Gould of New York, has not challenged the Prince of Monaco to a duel, as was falsely reported, and if he expected a challenge from the Prince he has been disappointed so far.

The facts in the case are these:

The ruler of Monte Carlo sent an open letter to Mme. Dreyfus expressing sympathy for her and inviting her husband to recuperate at a castle which the Prince of Monaco owns in French territory "when the holy work of justice is accomplished and Dreyfus is liberated."

The next day Count de Castellane sent to the newspapers an insulting answer to that letter.

Although the Prince of Monaco's little manifesto is generally regarded as uncalled for, Count de Castellane's rejoinder immediately became the joke of Paris. It was high pitched, in places so incorrect as to be obscure, and contained efforts at sarcasm which are conceded to be tactless and brutally offensive.

Not only did the Count charge the Prince with meddling unbecoming a foreigner, but he suggested that the Prince may be connected with Dreyfus by marriage, and made other remarks which are unanimously considered silly.

He closed by saying that he would not think of challenging the Prince, who was in tutelage—presumably referring to the French protectorate of Monaco—and predicting that Dreyfus himself would be ashamed of the interest manifested by the keeper of a gambling house.

Castellane being generally held in contempt here, the newspapers are extracting great fun out of this incident, and abusing "Anna's vassal" rather severely.

People are talking about a cable dispatch which, it is alleged, was sent by Castellane to a Parisian actress the very day of his wedding, reading thus :

"You may buy a cottage or anything else you want. It is done. I hold the bag."

The French public is inquiring: "Has our army no better champion?"

It is pointed out that while Count Boni has succeeded in evading the most of his military service the Prince of Monaco, although a foreigner, enlisted as a private and served France throughout the Franco-Prussian War.

Monaco's letter was sent from Denmark, and as his yacht is cruising in the North Sea probably he has not received Castellane's answer. At any rate he has not acknowledged its receipt yet.

It is not believed here that the Prince would condescend to a duel with such a ridiculous person.

Count de Castellane's letter to the Prince of Monaco is as follows:

"Monseigneur: You have just written a letter to Mme. Dreyfus which has provoked the indignation of good Frenchmen, not because you have addressed it to an unfortunate woman—that sentiment would be worthy of respect—but because you mix yourself up in matters which are no concern of your serene highness.

"If it is as a foreign sovereign that you think you can influence French officers in the grave decision they are going to take, I beg to point out to you that the sides are not equal, for none of us would care to ask explanations from a Prince in leading strings (en tutelle). Perhaps, Monseigneur, you are a relative by marriage of Capt. Dreyfus, but even then it is premature to triumph.

"If it is, on the contrary, as a protector of a gambling establishment, allow me, Monseigneur, to tell you that Dreyfus himself would prefer to do without your interest.

"Accept, Monseigneur, the assurance of the sentiments with which I have the honor to be your serene highness' very humble servant.

"COMTE BONI DE CASTELLANE,
"Deputy."

REDFERN SAYS HE STOLE IT.

More Conflicting Statements Regarding the Carranza Letter.

BOSTON, Mass., July 11.—Ralph D. Redfern, the United State secret service agent at Boston, confirms the statement that he stole the famous Carranza letter, which George Frederick Bell of Montreal boldly declared under oath he had secured and conveyed it to Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service at Washington. Bell's statement also declared that the letter was destroyed after it left his hands so as to support the demand for expulsion from Canada of the Spanish agents, which is also denied by Redfern.

NO IDEMNITY FOR AUSTRIANS.

Claims on Account of the Hazleton Massacre Rejected by the United States.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The United States has declined the proposal of Austria-Hungary to arbitrate the claims for damages arising from the death of Austria-Hungarian subjects during the rioting at Hazleton, Pa., in September, 1897, and this probably disposes of the matter according to the view held here, as it has run the entire gauntlet of diplomatic negotiation.

At the outset the State Department called the attention of the Governor of Pennsylvania, who in turn awaited the action of the jury at Hazleton which tried the Sheriff on the charge of murder. The jury acquitted the Sheriff, whereupon the Pennsylvania authorities held that they could not recognize a responsibility which a jury had held did not exist.

QUIET IN VENEZUELA.

Only One Revolutionary Movement to Engage Attention.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Among the passengers who arrived to-day by the steamer Philadelphia from Laguayra was F. B. Loomis, United States Minister to Venezuela. Mr. Loomis said that he was on leave of absence from his post.

"There is very little of interest in Venezuelan affairs. A small revolution was attempted in the mountains some weeks ago, but the government has it under control. The only important public business of interest to Americans is the treaty established in regard to postal service. The money order and parcel post systems are to be put into immediate operation. I have succeeded in getting this matter in such shape that this treaty was signed and everything is in readiness to begin. I expect it will be of considerable service, as it has been impossible to send drafts for small amounts because of the exchange. It will be possible in the future to send amounts of less than $5 and parcels can be sent under similar methods as those in operation with other countries."

Are Anglo-Saxons the 10 Lost Tribes?

The annual meeting of the British-Israel Association has just been held in London. This organization, of which there are several thousand members, believes that the Anglo-Saxon race, including both Englishmen and Americans, are the lineal descendants of the 10 lost tribes of Israel. In the recent victories of the English in the Soudan and in the conquest of the Philippines by the United States they see the fulfillment of the Biblical prophecy that Israel shall inherit the earth.

TO SAVE OUR WATER.

ST. LOUIS WILL FIGHT THE CHICAGO DRAINAGE CANAL.

THERE IS A REMEDY AT LAW.

City Counselor Will Be Instructed to Apply for an Injunction in a Federal Court.

City Couselor Schnurmacher will probably be instructed by the Municipal Assembly to institute injunction proceedings in the Federal Court in Illinois in the name of the City of St. Louis to prevent Chicago from operating its big drainage canal on the ground that its operation will pollute the water supply of St. Louis.

The joint committee of the House and Council appointed to consider suitable action adopted a resolution wihch will be submitted to both houses Friday evening. This resolution was adopted upon the opinion of the City Counselor that St. Louis has adequate remedy at law. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, The city of Chicago has constructed a channel and proposes to use it as an outlet by which the sewage of the entire city of Chicago, for all time to come, is to be discharged into the valley of the Des Plaines River, and whence, through the Illinois River, the polluted waters will reach the Mississippi River about 45 miles above St. Louis; and,

Whereas, It is proposed to discharge the sewage of Chicago through this channel without any attempt at purification, other than the very uncertain benefit which may come from certain proportions of dilution;

Whereas, The carrying into effect of the scheme, as above outlined, must materially affect the interests of St. Louis injuriously, and also, perhaps in a greater degree, the interests of the neighboring cities, Alton and East St. Louis, by polluting the only source from which water supplies can be taken;

Whereas, Sanitary and medical science has demonstrated that the epidemics and diseases most to be feared are directly produced by the polluted water supplies, and waters once polluted will never by natural process be made safe for drinking purposes, it must necessarily follow that the pollution of the sources from which St. Louis and its neighboring cities must take their water supply is an irreparable injury which cannot be compensated for and must be prevented; and, therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Counselor is hereby instructed to take such legal steps as may be necessary to enforce the rights and protect the interests of the city of St. Louis.

City Counsellor Schnurmacher will proceed as soon as the Council and House ratify the resolution.

SHOT AT THE ALTAR.

SLAYER OF A SCHOOL PRINCIPAL GIVES NO REASON.

DALLAS, Tex., July 11. So far no statement has been made by John T. Carlisle, who last night shot and killed Prof. William Lipscomb, principal of the High School, in the First Christian Church. Carlisle had repeatedly blamed Lipscomb for having caused his defeat for reappointment as janitor of the High School, and it is generally assumed that the murder was committed in revenge for this supposed slight. A revival meeting was in progress, and Prof. Lipscomb was seated in front of the altar. While the "invitational hymn" was being sung Carlisle arose from a back seat, and, walking quietly forward, proceeded until he stood beside Prof. Lipscomb, drew a 38-caliber pistol and fired.

Prof. Lipscomb uttered a cry of pain and grappled with Carlisle. Others seized the janitor and disarmed him. Prof. Lipscomb fell unconscious, but soon rallied and spoke soothingly to his frantic wife. Carlisle was hurried away and locked up. He appeared to be under the influence of liquor. Prof. Lipscomb was at once attended by several physicians who were in the church. He was shot through the body, near the heart. He was placed on the church altar, his head resting on his wife's lap and his feet on a chair. In this position he died at 11 o'clock.

Prof. Lipscomb was a native of Nashville, Tenn., and came to Dallas four years ago.

John T. Carlisle is a native of Kentucky, but has lived most of his life in Missouri. He came to Dallas four years ago. He is a cousin of former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle. He served with Quantrell and Joe Shelby.

IOWA'S FURNACES DAMAGED.

The Battleship Is Undergoing Repairs at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 11.—The engineers of the battleship Iowa, now in drydock, discovered serious injuries to her furnaces when making a final overhauling on Sunday. According to reliable information, two of the furnaces were found so nearly burned out that another attempt to fire them up would have caused them to break down entirely and might have caused serious injury to the ship. The defect was not discovered when the ship first went into the drydock. Her engineer came to Seattle at once and placed an order with a local foundry for the pieces necessary to make the repairs. It will take some 15 days to make the needed repairs. Her long run from New York to San Francisco is said to have caused the Iowa's trouble.

SACHEM SHEPHERD IS UPHELD.

Change of Red Men's Secretary Approved by the Chiefs.

LINCOLN, Ill., July 11.—The laws of the Improved Order of Red Men require great chiefs to file their bonds within 30 days after election. The great chief of records failed to comply with the letter of the law and when Sachem Shepherd declared the office vacant and made another appointment the braves put on their war paint. At the resultant conference here, however, the chiefs decided to uphold Shepherd. It was unanimously voted to exalt Wilson Brooks, of Chicago, to the stump of great chief of records, to succeed W. H. Hoover, of Streator. Chris C. Cross, who also failed to comply with the law was reappointed by Sachem Shepherd and was exalted.

MAYOR HOLDING UP A SENTENCE.

Why John J. McCann Has Not Been Imprisoned.

NO REMITTITUR ISSUED.

CITY MARSHAL TOLD NOT TO INTERFERE.

Real Estate Broker Who Defies the Law Is Still Waiting for the Officers to Convey Him to the Workhouse.

John J. McCann may thank Mayor Ziegenhein for his strange immunity from imprisonment in compliance with the sentence imposed by Judge Peabody of the First District Police Court of a fine of $100 for failure to pay his license as a real estate dealer.

The sentence has never been executed by City Marshal Reinstedler. The Marshal is acting on verbal instructions from Mayor Ziegenhein.

City Counselor Schnurmacher says the City Marshal is derelict in his duty in not executing the sentence, so long as the fine is not officially stayed by the court or remitted by the Mayor. City Marshal Reinstedler has no written order from either the Mayor or Judge Kinsey, who succeeded Judge Peabody on the police court bench.

The Mayor says he told the City Marshal not to execute the sentence until the Supreme Court decides a similar case against Mr. McCann, which the latter appealed from the Court of Criminal Correction nearly two years ago. The Mayor's idea is that it would be useless to attempt to imprison Mr. McCann until the Supreme Court decides this case. He thinks Mr. McCann will appeal again. In this he is mistaken, as Mr. McCann is determined to accept punishment as an object lesson of what he believes is the injustice of the license law, which he has defied.

City Counselor Schnurmacher was not consulted by the Mayor before the latter gave the City Marshall verbal instructions not to execute the McCann sentence. If the Mayor had asked his advice the City Counselor would have told him that he must either remit McCann's fine or allow it to be executed.

Under this peculiar state of affairs McCann occupies a remarkable position. He is probably the first man in St. Louis to take such a bold stand for a principle which he believes to be right. He has the enthusiastic support of the Equal Taxation Association and Single Taxers generally. They hailed this fine and sentence rather as a chance to show by martyrdom their devotion to principle. McCann was not an unwilling martyr. He accepted the fine of $500 without appeal and declined to pay it. The next regular step was his imprisonment. He and his friends confidently expected that the sentence would be executed. That was on June 5. The Single Taxers arranged to make a big demonstration when McCann was taken to the Workhouse to begin his six months' term. They planned to accompany the Black Maria which would transport him in a body headed by a band.

Whether the Mayor heard of this and hesitated to give such an opportunity for an exhibition is not known; but at any rate Mr. McCann was not treated like an ordinary candidate for the Workhouse. The tramp and the thief if they cannot pay their fines are hustled back to the holdover, and during the afternoon of the same day are taken in the Black Maria to the Workhouse.

In this case Mr. McCann was permitted to leave the courtroom. He was not under bond, and, indeed, according to City Counselor Schnurmacher, no bond could be given after sentence had been imposed. The fine was not stayed. McCann was simply turned loose with the understanding that he could be found whenever wanted.

During the succeeding month he has been a free man, walking the streets, attending to business, as any other man would. He has paid no license as a real estate dealer, but continues to do a real estate business, although under sentence for doing that very thing.

At present he is ill at his home, 2307 Walnut street.

When asked about the case, City Counselor Schnurmacher said:

"Unless the City Marshal has a formal order from the Mayor remitting McCann's fine, he should have executed the sentence immediately after it was imposed. Mr. McCann is my friend, but under the present circumstances before the law, he is no better than any tramp who may be fined for vagrancy. He is a violator of the law, who has been prosecuted and sentenced to a fine, which, not being paid, renders him liable to imprisonment.

"Mr. McCann's case is even more aggravated, since he has been defying the law more than two years. He refused to pay his license two years ago, and was fined. He appealed the case to the Supreme Court, where it is now pending. Others have paid their licenses, but McCann has resisted. Now a second time he is fined. The fact that a similar case is pending in the Supreme Court on his appeal has no bearing on this case. The sentence should be imposed and the Marshal has no legal right to suspend execution of the sentence without written authority from the Mayor in the shape of a remittitur.

At the Marshal's office, a deputy stated that the McCann sentence was "suspended pending a decision of the Supreme Court in a similar case." When asked by whose authority the execution was held up, the deputy said, "by the authority of the powers that be—the Mayor."

Mayor Ziegenhein readily admitted that he had told Marshal Reinstedler not to execute the sentence until the Supreme Court had decided the case before it, but he did not put his order in writing.

"I supposed, of course, that McCann would appeal again," he said, "and I thought it useless to have two cases in the Supreme Court."

Rose That Thrives in Cemetery.

From the Ladies Home Journal.

The best white rose for cemetery planting is Madame Plantier. It is a variety of somewhat slender growth, and on this account is sometimes termed a half climber. But it requires no trellis, being much more graceful when allowed to train itself than when given a support of any kind. It throws up a great number of stalks, on which great quantities of milk white double flowers are borne in clusters during June and July.

IMPERIAL NOT SOLD.

DISPOSITION OF THE THEATER POSTPONED TO AUGUST 1.

HAVLIN MAY BUY THE HOUSE.

Meanwhile Col. Hopkins Views It as a Possibility, but Says He Has Other Large Properties.

At the request of the minority stockholders the sale of the Imperial Theater, which was to have taken place Monday to satisfy the claim of $18,000 of MacElpatrick & Sons, New York architects, was postponed till Aug. 1.

Attorney Rufus J. Delano, who represents the MacElpatricks, said the sale was put off in order to give the smaller stockholders an opportunity to get together and either buy in the property or effect a compromise.

John H. Havlin is the principal minority stockholder, and it is understood the action of the MacElpatricks in pressing their claim was approved by him. The majority of the stock is held by J. C. Jannopoulo, but is really owned by the Continental Bank.

The question is whether Mr. Jannopoulo will retain control of the house or whether Mr. Havlin will buy it in.

There is a possibility that Col. John D. Hopkins may get the house. He said Monday evening that he had an important deal on hand that might put him back in the St. Louis arena for the regular as well as the summer season. He would not go into details and mentioned the Imperial only as a remote possibility—something he could get if he wanted it—but remote possibilities sometimes blossom into realities.

The Colonel denied positively that he had ever thought of trying to get the Fourteenth Street Theater and said with much vigor of language that he wouldn't have it; that he had been approached on the subject by the owners and would not entertain any proposition to take the house.

"I'm not so dead stuck on the Imperial, either," said the Colonel, "but I want it understood that I am not shut out of St. Louis. The Century lease will eventually be sold and I have as much license to bid for it as anybody else.

"I am not at liberty to say what the exact plan I have in view is, but I am considering a big thing."

Meanwhile it is not cetain whether there will be a stock house in St. Louis next season or not. It has all been settled half a dozen times, but it has been unsettled just as often.

CAPT. WATKINS TO BLAME.

His Mistakes Stranded the Paris and He Is Suspended for Two Years.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The report of Capt. Watkins on the stranding of the Paris admits that the accident was due to "an unaccountable error" on his part, on miscalculating the position of the ship. He says that the ship was 18 miles ahead of the position he calculated on. The local inspectors have suspended Capt. Watkins' license as master of ocean steamers for two years and are severe in their report on other errors in navigation, which they say the captain has failed to state.

Capt. Watkins is still in charge of the Paris in the interests of the underwriters.

SOCIAL SCIENCE COLLEGE.

Thomas E. Will of Kansas Has Accepted the Presidency.

BOSTON, July 11.—The Presidency of the new social science college, which is about to be established and which was one of the most important outgrowths of the Buffalo conference, was by a unanimous vote offered to Edwin D. Meade, of this city. On account of his being unable to give the time to the duties, Mr. Meade declined the office. It is now understood that Thos. E. Will, late President of the Kansas State Agricultural College, has accepted the Presidency.

Mr. Meade said that he had not understood that it was proposed to make Boston the headquarters of the movement, the drift of sentiment at the conference being in favor of New York.

Government Agent Says That Pelagic Hunting Should Be Abolished.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 11.—Major E. W. Clark, special agent of the Government in charge of the seal islands in Behring Sea, has arrived from his headquarters on Island St. George. He says that seal life is not one-tenth as great in extent as it was in former years, and that the provisions of the Paris tribunal for the better preservation of seal life are totally inadequate. The only effective provision, he says, would be to prevent pelagic sealing altogether.

FIVE "GOOD FELLOWS"

THEY GAGGGD AND ROBBED HARRY DONER OF BROOKLYN.

SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER.

Drank With Him, Took Him Carriage Riding and Then Relieved Him of Money, Diamonds and a Watch.

Harry J. Doner, a railroad man of Brooklyn, N. Y., and erstwhile backer of Jack McAuliffe, the pugilist, had a costly experience with St. Louis highwaymen early Tuesday morning.

While out seeing the sights during the night he met a quintette of seemingly "good fellows," who invited him to have a drink. He accepted, and ere long he was riding in a carriage with his newly-made friends. They tarried a while at the Planters' Hotel bar, he says, where various liquids were drank at Doner's expense.

Then the quintette took a stroll.

At the mouth of the alley on Market street, between Sixth street and Broadway, Doner's companions relieved him of a gold watch and chain, valued at $250, a diamond stud and diamond ring, together with $46 in cash.

Mr. Doner figures his total loss at $370. But, he adds, it has made him a wiser if a sadder man. He didn't think crooks in the far West were so ungrateful.

The robbery was witnessed by Harry Suthard of 712 Market street, who identified the culprits as Thomas Doyle, James Griffin and John Manley. Thees men are now locked up in the Four Courts holdover. Charles J. Poujol was arrested later on suspicion of being implicated.

Mr. Doner is thinking it all over in his apartment at the Burlington Hotel, 1616 Market street. Temporarily he is penniless.

"I have telegraphed to Brooklyn for money," he said to the Post-Dispatch, "for just now I haven't a 5-cent piece in my pocket. I was handled pretty roughly. One of the men stuck a handkerchief in my mouth while the other two held my arms, and when I realized my danger I tried to break away and was knocked down. Some citizens came to my rescue and the fellows ran away.

"I confess that I'm partly to blame for my misfortune. If it hadn't been for my foolishness in the first place, I probably wouldn't have encountered the men at all. It appears they had followed me since early in the evening. I met them, I think, at a saloon near the Union Station. As 'jolly Indians,' as we term royal fellows in Brooklyn, they were unequaled.

"I have mingled with all sorts of persons, and I think I can tell a good man from a bad one."

Doner meditated a moment and then said.

"A man learns something new every day, and intelligence is not always a protection against sharpers.

"My escorts at first politely told me to keep quiet and that if I screamed I would be punished. When I objected they carried out their threat and I heard them laugh as they ran away."

Warrants charging Griffin and his friends with highway robbery will be applied for. Doner says he will remain in the city to prosecute the case.

MORE OFFICERS THAN PRIVATES.

Pressure on the President for Commissions in the Army.

EASY THING TO RAISE 100,000.

TWO MORE MISSOURIANS GIVEN COMMISSIONS.

A Delegation From the State Headed by Congressman Joy Calls at the White House in the Interests of Claimants for Recognition.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—It would be an easy matter to raise an army of officers 100,000 strong to put down the Aguinaldo and his little brown warriors in the Philippines.

An attache of the War Department, in a facetious humor, said, to-day that it is a pity the President does not see his way to organizing a brigade of majors, one of captains and another of lieutenants. They would be filled in 24 hours.

The pressure for commissions is strong and comes from all parts of the country. Missouri is after her share. A delegation, with Congressman Joy at its head, saw the President to-day in the interest of persons who want a command in the new regular volunteer regiments.

President McKinley is turning out commissioned officers for these regiments in large batches, and it must be said that as a rule his selections are good ones. Here is the list of appointments made to-day; the rank following each name is that held by the officers during the war with Spain. Among them are two Missourians, E. J. Griffith, formerly of the Third; W. H. Clopton, Jr., of the Sixth, and Guy V. Henry, Jr., son of Gen. Henry:

To be majors—David B. Case, colonel, Fourth Pennsylvania Volunteers; John Biddle Porter, Second Pennsylvania.

To be Captains—Charles S. Campbell, Adjutant Second Pennsylvania; Edwin J. Griffith, Captain Third Missouri; Guy V. Henry, Jr., Second Lieutenant Second Cavalry; Frank H. Peck, Cautain Ninth New York; W. G. Schreiber, Lieutenant-Colonel Second California; Edmund G. Shields, Captain Third Texas; Charles P. Stivers, Sergeant First Ohio Cavalry; L. C. Scherer, First Lieutenant Fourth Cavalry; Jacob C. R. Peabody, Captain Eighth Massachusettts.

To be First Lieutenants—Charles U. Bear, Lieutenant First Illinois Cavalry; Richard H. Brewer, enlisted man volunteers; William H. Clopton, Jr., First Lieutenant, Sixth Missouri; Daniel Hyman, Sergeant, B. Nineteenth United States Infantry; Charles L. Willard, Sergeant, First Texas Volunteers; Joseph W. Avery, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Second North Carolina Volunteers; Homer B. Grant, First Lieutenant Fifth Massachusetts.

THEY SAY HE STOLE VALISES.

William H. Kelly Arrested on Complaint of His Employes.

William H. Kelly, a teamster for the Stromberg Kraus Trunk Co., was arrested at Thirteenth and Papin streets late Monday night by Detectives Tracy and Guion.

Kelly is charged with systematically stealing valises from the trunk company.

Monday the first direct evidence was found against the man when valises were discovered in a wagon which he was driving away from the store.

A warrant, charging petit larceny, was issued against Kelly Tuesday.

L. M. FISHBACK DISCHARGED.

His Trial Brought to a Sudden Termination by Judge Klein.

Louis M. Fishback, formerly a clerk in the City Treasurer's office, who has been on trial before Judge Klein charged with the larceny of $50, was acquitted Tuesday morning. The complainant in the case was Dr. James McClure.

The indictment specified that Fishback took money, whereas it was shown the amount was represented by a check. Upon this being shown Judge Klein instructed the jury to acquit the defendant.

Struck With a Brick.

Louis Rogers, colored, of 9 Targee street, was struck on the head with a brick, thrown by another negro boy, at Fourteenth and Walnut streets, Monday night, and was painfully injured. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Every farmer knows that to kill weeds he must go to the roots. To cut the weed off on the surface, means that the weed is still left to grow. It's just that way with boils, ulcers, eruptions, pimples and similar diseases of the flesh. To cure them you must go to the roots, down into the blood. Mere surface treatment never gets rid of the disease. It will come back at the first opportunity.

It is to its wonderful power in the purification of the blood that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery owes many of its triumphs of healing. It cleanses the blood thoroughly, eliminating all the refuse matter and clears out the waste and poisonous particles which clog the body and so foul the flesh. It eradicates from the blood the conditions which make disease possible. The result is that diseases die out like fires that are unfed.

There is no medicine for the blood which is "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery." Accept no substitute.

"I feel it my duty to write to you of the wonderful curative powers of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Geo. S. Henderson, Esq., of Denaud, Lee Co., Florida. "I had a bad bruise on my right ear, and my blood was badly out of order. I tried local doctors but with no good results. Finally, I wrote you the particulars in my case, and you advised your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I began to take. From the first bottle I began to feel better, and when I had taken eight bottles the sore was healed up. I wish you success."

Free. On receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, paper-bound, will be sent free. For cloth binding send 31 stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MINIATURE LAKES FORMED IN A FINE RESIDENCE BLOCK.

W. H. Chickey of 4325 Page boulevard, with other citizens of his neighborhood, tells the Post-Dispatch that the conditions around Pendleton and Page are a disgrace to the city.

"The work of reconstructing these avenues," says Mr. Chickey, "was started about the middle of June, and after a week's labor it was entirely suspended, for reasons which the residents of the vicinity have not been able to determine.

"On Page avenue, west of Pendleton, a large body of water has remained in the highway the past two weeks, about a foot deep, and each rainstorm adds to the supply of the miniature lake.

"Pendleton, from Finney to Page, is in a wretched condition and there seems to be no reason why the city should allow such a state of affairs to exist. It would be well for the Board of Health to look into the condition of these avenues for the benefit of those who live in the vicinity. The residents want the Post-Dispatch to call the Mayor's attention to the situation, trusting that a speedy remedy will follow."

A picure of one of the lakes referred to by Mr. Chickey is presented herewith. Some young Americans of the neighborhood have since staked the pond with signs which read: "No fishing allowed," and "No boating here." Children have torn up planks which formerly constituted a sidewalk, and are distressing their mothers by paddling the planks to and fro in the lakes.

HIS BOOKS WANTED.

ASSESSOR ENRIGHT HAS NOT MADE HIS RETURNS.

EAST SIDE TAX DODGERS.

Commission in Session at Belleville Unable to Proceed Without the Books.

Assessor John P. Enright of East St. Louis has not returned his books to County Treasurer Adolph Andel at Belleville. Under the new assessment law they should have been returned June 1. All efforts of the County Treasurer and the Board of Review have been in vain. State's Attorney Baker has been consulted with a view to proceeding against Enright.

The withholding of the books is declared to be part of a scheme to evade the new assessment law, or at least hamper its operation.

It has always been claimed that East St. Louis did not bear an equitable share of the county's taxation and it has been charged that several of the largest property owners, who are political leaders, have not been paying taxes at all.

John P. Enright has been assessor 14 years in the face of strong opposition. The new assessment law was designed to put an end to tax dodging. It was expected to strike East St. Louis very hard.

When Enright's books were not returned June 1 he was notified to bring them in. He did not do so. Repeated efforts have been made since then to get them, but without avail.

The Board of Review of Assessments, composed of County Clerk Thomas, Chairman Miller of the Board of Supervisors and George Poste of Mascoutah, met at the Courthouse in Belleville Monday, but was obliged to take a recess on account of the absence of the East St. Louis books.

Mr. Andel went to East St. Louis Monday to see Enright. The assessor could not be found, but his deputies promised to send his books to Belleville Tuesday.

Enright was in East St. Louis Tuesday morning. He was seen in a carriage with some friends. It was stated afterwards that he had gone to St. Louis.

It is said that the law requires the assessments to be published not later than July 12. Even if the books are sent to Belleville Tuesday it will not be possible to comply with the law in this particular.

Frank P. Bowman, whose influence has always been for Enright, went to Belleville Tuesday, it is said, in Enright's behalf.

BERRY FILED ANOTHER SUIT.

He Wants the Fair Association Restrained From Ruling Him Off of All Race Tracks.

Thomes M. Berry filed another suit against the St. Louis Fair Association and the Board of Stewards of the St. Louis Jockey Club Tuesday.

This time he wants an order restraining the defendants from enforcing their boycott against him. He says if the sentence of suspension is not immediately removed he will suffer irreparable injury. He alleges that, unless the defendants are restrained, they will proceed to have him barred from the tracks of the American Turf Congress, an organization to which all prominent racing associations belong. He says such action would cause him to sell his string of horses at a secrifice and would make it impossible for him to secure employment as a trainer.

The petition will be heard by Judge Withrow Wednesday.

Berry filed a suit Saturday against the defendant, asking $30,000 damages for his suspension. He was suspended because he refused to comply with an oredr of the Board of Stewards, commanding him to deliver a horse, which had been entered in a selling race to one person, twenty days after they had commanded him to deliver it to another. He claims the last order was made, after the Stewards had lost jurisdiction of the case.

THEY WANT A POSTOFFICE.

Hillside People Have Petitioned for a Station of Their Own.

G. D. Fisher and Jacob H. Flower called on Chief Postoffice Inspector Dice Tuesday in the interest of the establishment of a postoffice at Page and Ferguson avenues, three quarters of a mile beyond the city limits.

The office is wanted for the accommodation of the people of Hillside and the surrounding territory. The nearest postoffices now is at Roth's grove, a mile away, and is claimed to be inaccessible from Hillside. A petition signed by all the Hillside property owners has gone to Washington. They want Flower to be postmaster and want the postoffice called Hazel Hill. They point out that Page and Ferguson avenues is a desirable point, because it is at the junction of the Lindell and Midway Electric lines.

the board in the cases of street car companies, will bring in considerable more revenue than the State has secured from this class of property in any former year.

St. Louis League Interested in Arguments Concerning the Assessments of the Railroads.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 11.—The State Board of Equalization was to have met to-day to consider the valuation of the steam railroads of the State for taxes of 1899, but as several of the companies have not yet filed their returns under the resolution of the board some time ago, the meeting was postponed until to-morrow. S. L. Moser of the St. Louis Equal Tax Association is here to-day to appear before the board regarding the assessment of the railroads. He believes that the line of assessment as recently determined upon by

SUIT TO SET ASIDE A SALE

Conrad Kunne Claims That His Property Was Sacrificed by David Steinmeyer Whom He Owed.

Conrad Kunne has filed suit in the Circuit, praying that the sale of two lots on Broadway to Henry Liermann, Nov. 8, 1898, under a deed of trust which he executed to David Steinmeyer, be set aside.

The plaintiff says that in October, 1886, he owed Steinmeyer $2100. He says Steinmeyer promised to lend him $900 more if he would give him a deed of trust on his property for $3000. He declares he executed the deed of trust but never received the money.

He says Steinmeyer authorized the trustee to sell the property in October, 1898, and requested him to advertise it. He alleges that when the advertisement was published, his name was spelled wrong and the property was improperly described. He also declares that the sale was set for Tuesday, Nov. 8, election day, and that the Courthouse, where the sale was to be held, was closed.

He says that, before the sale, he found a man who agreed to pay $3050 for the property and urged Steinmeyer to dispose of it that price. But he claims Steinmeyer urged him to let the auction proceed, assuring him he would receive more than that. He says the sale proceeded, but the property was knocked down to Liermann for $2350.

He claims that Steinmeyer was the real purchaser and that Lierman is only acting as his trustee. He asks that an accounting of the sale be made and that the deed be set aside.

Because of a Typewriter.

A warrant was issued Tuesday against J. C. Sommers, who conducts a typewriter supply company at Broadway and Locust, charging him with "embezzlement by bailee" from W. C. Dines, 609 Roe Building. Dines alleges that Sommers got a typewriter of him in February, intending to sell it for him and that since then nothing has been returned for the machine.

STONE ON THE SPOT.

SAID TO BE INVESTIGATING THE VAN WYCK BOOM.

CONFERS WITH HOGG OF TEXAS.

Again a Denial Made That Chairman Jones Will Resign From the Committee.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The arrival here of William Joel Stone, of Missouri, has caused some uneasiness among the boomers of Judge Van Wyck for the Democratic nomination fo the Pesidency.

Gov. Stone has been in consultation with Moses C. Wetmore, of St. Louis, ex-Gov. Hogg, of Texas, and an influential Democratic politician of Illinois.

Stone will not admit that his mission here is political. He claims to be in New York on a business errand. But however true this assertion may be, Tammany men know that where Stone, Hogg and Wetmore are gathered together, politics will be the chief topic. Of the report that Chairman James K. Jones has resigned the chairmanship of the National Committee Mr. Stone made this unequivocal statement: "A letter just received from Senator Jones tells me that he is in good health and that he will return early in September. I can state positively that he will remain at the head of the Democratic National Committee."

In regard to his presence in New York the Missourian made this explanation:

"I am here purely on personal and private business. It is true that, while here, I have had the unexpected pleasure of meeting several gentlemen prominent in politics. But it was all by accident, I assure you. Meeting anybody connected with politics was a thing further from my mind. I haven't any appointment with anybody connected with politics, but, of course, I wouldn't run away from a politician, and I am always glad to see the representatives of my party, no matter where I am, East or West, North or South."

Within an hour after making this statement Stone was in conference with Joseph J. Willett of Alabama, who seems to have the Van Wyck boom in charge. Later he was closeted with ex-Gov. Hogg, when the Eastern situation, in so far as it concerns Bryan, the silver issue and the attitude of Tammany, was discussed. At the conclusion of these conferences Stone would not say which made the greater impression on him.

After ex-Gov. Hogg and Mr. Willett had talked with Stone they went down to Augustus Van Wyck's office and had a talk with him.

The Tammany leaders are not showing much interest in the coming meeting of the Democratic National Committee. They will have a representative at Chicago on July 20 to report the work of the committee, but no prominent members of the organization are expected to make the trip. A majority of the committee are for Bryan, and Tammany does not want a second collision with Van Wyck's political hopes.

Gov. Stone does not take much stock in the report that a division of the National Committee would occur at the Chicago Conference on July 20 on the question of abrogating the two-thirds rule.

"I never heard of a contest or of any such movement to abrogate the two-thirds rule," he said, "until the New York newspaper men sounded me on the subject. It is all news to me. I do not know what will take place at that conference, except that the situation will be canvassed at some length and the members of the National Committee will exchange views.

"As to 1900, all I can say is that the Chicago platform will be reaffirmed, and that Bryan will be elected President of the United States."

Willett left here for home this morning. He will stop at Baltimore, Richmond, Charlotte and Atlanta on his way home for the purpose of consulting political friends at these places.

The Hundred Year Club.

A Hundred Year Club has been organized. The object is to study the conditions which promote longevity. After much study and research its members must arrive at the conclusion that the only possible way to attain long life is to take the best care of health. With all due respect, we present the study of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for consideration. This is a tonic for one of the most vital organs of life—the stomach. For 50 years it has cured constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, weak liver and kidneys. It makes strong stomachs, rich, red blood, and steady, vigorous nerves. If you accept a substitute don't expect it to cure like Hostetter's Bitters. See that a private revenue stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

SHIP GOES DOWN; ONE LIFE LOST.

Steamer Portia Struck on a Rock Near Halifax.

CAUSED BY A DENSE FOG.

PASSENGERS NUMBERING 70 AND CREW OF 34 SAVED

They Took to the Boats and Were Safely Landed on Sambro Island Two Miles From Scene of the Disaster.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—The steamer Portia, which struck on Big Fish shoal, 15 miles east of Halifax last night, filled and sank during the night.

The only victim of the wreck was a 12-year-old Assyrian lad, known by the name of Basha, who was traveling second class from New York to St. Johns, N. B., where his mother lives.

The others on board the steamer, including 70 passengers anda crew of 34 officers and men, were landed at Sambro Island, cared for there during the night, and will be brought here to-day.

The accident, which happened about 7 o'clock p. m., was due to a dense fog. The locality in which the Portia struck is very dangerous and even before she went down it was apparent that she was badly damaged.

The steamer struck the rocks with a shock that was felt in every part of her hull, and all on board knew instantly what had happened. The next moment the heavy southwest swell lifted the steamer and forced her forward. A hurried investigation by the captain showed him the ship was broken and was filling and also that she was in danger of being forced across the shoals and thrown into deep water beyond.

He ordered the boats to be made ready at once. This was done, and the passenger, including about 30 women, filled them without confusion, although the dangerous swell added peril to the proceeding.

As the passengers took their places it was discovered that the Assyrian lad was missing. A hasty search of the vessel was made, but the boy could not be found. When last seen he was seasick, and it is thought he had crawled into some obscure corner to lie down, and thus escaped observation when the searchers tried to find him.

The shipwrecked men and women all were landed on Sambro Island, which was hardly two miles from the place where the steamer lay. They were cared for there during the night, although the accommodations were meager. The inhabitants of the island gave up their homes and their provisions, which were scanty. The steamers A. C. Whitney and L. Boyer were dispatched from here as soon as possible after the news of the accident reached here, bearing food for those at Sambro. The arrival of the steamers early to-day brought great relief to the shipwrecked men and women, as well as to those who live on the island.

At daybreak those who had come from the Portia were taken on board the two steamers from Halifax and they reached here this afternoon.

None of the passengers saved their baggage, and a number reported that their money and jewels had been lost.

Capt. Farrell, who left the Portia last night to look after the safe landing of his passengers, returned to the scene a few hours later on a Sambro steamer. It was found that the Portia had been carried entirely over the shoal and sunk in nine or ten fathoms of water, a short distance on the other side, only the topmasts being visible above the surfaee.

JEALOUSY UNDOING OF BOTH.

Negro Poisoned His Wife That He Might Live With a Woman Who Poisoned Her Husband.

HARRISBURG, July 11.—Albert Smith, a middle-aged negro, was hanged to-day in the county jail for wife murder. Smith poisoned his wife about a year ago, and went to live with Annie Winston, who had killed her husband by the same means. He began to pay attention to other women. This made Annie jealous and she notified the police of Smith's crime. His confession followed. The Winston woman was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Vail and Gorman Accounted for Their Whereabouts on the Night When W. P. Scott Was Killed.

Patrick Vail and John Gorman, the suspects in the Scott murder case who were arrested Monday, were released at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday, having satisfied Capt. McNamee of the Mounted Police District that they were innocent.

Gorman showed that he passed the night of the murder asleep in a saloon at Third and Spruce streets and Vail proved that he spent that night in his quarters at the Christian Brothers' College.

The release of Vail and Gorman leaves the police without a clew to the identity of the murderer.

THE MEASURE OF SUCCESS.

In yesterday's Post-Dispatch Mr. C. H. Huttig, President of the Third National Bank, gave an inside view of the World's Fair. As a member of both the Executive and Finance committees, and as a worker, whose achievements have exceeded expectations and estimates, he is competent to speak with authority of the actual condition of the great project. His opinion is firm, and is unequivocally expressed in the statement that the St. Louis World's Fair "WILL SUCCEED. THE MONEY WILL BE RAISED."

No man who knows St. Louis and the men who have made St. Louis doubts that the great task entrusted and undertaken by the city will be performed. To doubt it is to reflect upon the resources of St. Louis and the energy and ability, the civic pride and public spirit of her citizens.

But the measure of success will depend upon the harmonious co-operation of St. Louisans and the quality of their work. A united St. Louis will score a World's Fair triumph. Let St. Louis be unified for the honor and the welfare of the city.

SLEEPING IN CHURCH.

Sleeping in church is the subject of discussion in England this silly season and some echoes are heard in the columns of religious papers in the United States.

Various remedies are suggested. One good man tells the minister to use a hand camera and take snap shots at the offenders. It is claimed that sleepers will stay awake rather than be fixed in unesthetic pose for general distribution. The appeal to vanity succeeds when that to the loftiest concerns of the soul ignominously fails.

But why do men sleep in church? A discussion of that question might throw some interior light upon the subject more illuminating than the flash-light of a camera.

BEWARE OF THE TRUST TAINT.

Gov. Stephens refused to be interviewed during his flying visit to St. Louis, but, speaking for him, his brother said there was no doubt of the nomination of Judge Dorsey Shackleford to succeed the late Richard P. Bland in Congress.

This indicates that Judge Shackleford is the Governor's choice for Congress in the Bland district and will have the State Administration's support.

Gov. Stephens approved and is now desperately defending a measure designed to legalize the organization of a street railway trust in St. Louis with unlimited privileges as to capitalization. Under the circumstances any candidate he indorses must be viewed with suspicion on the score of his trust and corporation views.

It would be well for the Democrats of the Eighth Congressional District, before consenting to the nomination of Mr. Shackleford, to demand of him an unequivocal pledge to oppose the trusts. The Democratic party cannot afford to send a friend of monopoly to Congress, especially in place of such a distinguished champion of the people as Mr. Bland was.

FORGOTTEN HEROES.

Fame which springs from physical courage does not survive. This is well illustrated by the story of Capt. Owen J Sweet, told in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Capt. Sweet served through the Civil War, took part in many great battles, raids, assaults and skirmishes and in nearly every case distinguished himself by some act of unusual bravery. He was repeatedly thanked by commanders in the field. The Captain was a daredevil and soldiers' luck protected him.

Thirty years after Capt. Sweet was recruiting officer in St. Louis and is now in the Philippines as a line officer. His prowess had been forgotten and was recalled casually as an incident in the life of an unpretentious officer.

Fame, to be lasting, must be founded upon intellectual and moral qualities which perhaps may not be associated with extraordinary physical courage. Hobson has yet to win immortality. Even his kissing bee will be forgotten unless it is preserved as an episode in a career yet to be accomplished. Funston is a daredevil, but so are thousands of others, and he will not be remembered in consequence of his dash.

It is well to think, it is better to do, it is best to think and do. When the two spheres of activity make one, fame is assured

It is to be hoped that Mr. Bartholdt will succeed in persuading Emperor William to visit the World's Fair of 1903. The part that Germans have taken in the development of this great country would be better understood by the Emperor if he were to come here, and he might appreciate more the value of his own subjects on beholding what the German immigrant has accomplished in the United States.

A WAR OF FALSE PRETENSES.

The chief argument of the supporters of Mr. McKinley's war in the Philippines is that it is the duty of our Government to "restore and maintain order" in the islands. Our international obligations and considerations of humanity, it is urged, alike forbade our leaving the Filipinos to "anarchy and throat-cutting."

Unfortunately for those who make this plea, they are not able to cite any facts to support it. There has been no disorder in any of the islands save where our troops have gone to demand, in Mr. McKinley's name, the unconditional submission of the natives to the "sovereignty of the United States over the entire archipelago."

President Schurman, late of the Peace Commission, who has just returned from a visit in the southern island of the group, found no anarchy anywhere. He reported the natives as of a peaceful disposition. The only fighting has been with those whom they regard as invaders. They are not at war among themselves. They have their own civil government, which, while not up to the American standard, satisfies those who ordained it and meets their needs.

The same thing was true in Luzon. Mr. Barrett, formerly our Minister to Siam, who was with Dewey's fleet up to the surrender of Manila, and afterward spent several months there studying the situation, in his article in the Review of Reviews speaks in high terms of both the civil government and the army organized by Aguinaldo. He says:

> By the middle of October, 1898, he had assembled at Malolos a congress of 100 men who would compare in behavior, manner, dress and education with the average men of the better classes of other Asiatic nations, possibly including the Japanese. These men, whose sessions I repeatedly attended, conducted themselves with great decorum and showed a knowledge of debate and of parliamentary law that would not compare unfavorably with the Japanese Parliament.

This is in harmony with the opinion of Admiral Dewey, given officially to the Navy Department, that the Filipinos are better capable of self-government than are the Cubans.

Through all the nine months of waiting, from the investment and final capture of Manila with the army of the Filipinos acting as our allies, up to the collision with our forces in February, there was no "anarchy" or "disorder" in the island of Luzon. There was none during the centuries of Spanish occupation, except such as Spain made or provoked.

The purpose of the Administration in the Philippines, so far as it has been disclosed, is that of subjugation and conquest. Spain could not deliver the islands for which we paid $20,000,000, and we are trying to secure possession by force. Any other plea is false and hypocritical. The truth about this unwarranted and costly war is dispassionately set forth in the extracts from an English journal at Hongkong printed on this page to-day.

FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR

Yesterday Mr. C. H. Huttig spoke for the Third National Bank in behalf of the World's Fair. To-day Mr. J. C. Van Blarcom speaks for another great financial institution of the West, the National Bank of Commerce. The faith of the men who control this great banking establishment in the World's Fair and in the beneficial effect of the project upon St. Louis, Missouri and the entire West has been proved by works. Mr. Van Blarcom is Vice-President of the bank and when he speaks for himself and his associates, his words carry great weight as expressing the views of men of exceptional capacity and sound judgment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The National Bank of Commerce is on record in unmistakable terms on the World's Fair question.

Although we had no connection with the movement in the beginning, we realized the importance and value of the proposition, and after the Convention met and acted, we conceived it to be the part of good citizens to give the movement all the aid and encouragement in our power.

We believe a successful World's Fair will be of greater value to the city than even the most enthusiastic of its supporters now dream of.

The expenditure of such large sums in the years of preparation by the company itself, and the added millions which will be placed in new enterprises by private investors; the bringing to this city in 1903 of the best people from all quarters of the globe; the opportunity to be given our own citizens and neighbors to gather knowledge from the efforts of all nations in competition; the advertisement which will carry the name of St. Louis to every village within the bounds of civilization, and the demonstration that the great Southwest, of which St. Louis is the gateway, is an empire offering inducements and advantages to capital and labor equaled in no other section, will bring to us, and the inhabitants of the Louisiana Purchase, new blood, new capital, and new enterprises, which will add manyfold to the prosperous conditions which are now so apparent.

We believe this is St. Louis' opportunity to retrieve what she lost in the '60s and the dark years that followed, and we will continue to give the Fair project our support, in the firm belief it will be carried to success.

Yours truly,
J. C. VAN BLARCOM,
Vice-President.

THE BOOKKEEPER'S MISTAKE.

The bookkeeper sat behind his little sliding window covertly watching Miss Dolly over the top of his ledger. She was leaning rather dejectedly over her typewriter, with her head on her hand and her eyes gazing wistfully through the window.

The bookkeeper was not yet 40, but care and hard work had brought a little gray into his hair, and his youth seemed very far away.

Presently he opened the door of his cage.

"Miss Dolly, you may as well go now. You don't look well, and Mr. Sperry will not be back this evening."

"Oh, thank you," she said, and closed up her typewriter and put on her hat.

When she had gone the bookkeeper sat for a long time thinking hard. He was meditating a plan of attack, for Miss Dolly was too nice a girl to waste her affections. The bookkeeper had fallen into the habit of walking home with her in the evening, their roads lying together, and he knew what a sweet, lovable, womanly nature she had. The shipping clerk must be made to realize this. He must have his eyes opened.

SHE WAS LEANING DEJECTEDLY OVER HER TYPEWRITER.

In his corner that young gentleman scratched away, blissfully unconscious of the schemes darkening over his blonde head. He looked up when the bookkeeper came over and sat down by his desk.

"I think Miss Dolly is a very sweet girl, don't you, Wells?" said the bookkeeper.

"Falling in love with her?" asked the shipping clerk.

"Oh, no, no. Nothing like that for me. She didn't look well this afternoon and I was thinking of her, that's all."

The shipping clerk had his suspicions, however, and Miss Dolly acquired a new interest for him. He talked to her whenever he could get a chance, and found her rather dignified and reserved, which only made him more eager to draw her out. The bookkeeper helped matters along all he could. He left them alone together whenever an opportunity afforded. The bookkeeper came in suddenly one day and found Miss Dolly crying, with her pretty head dropped on her arms outstretched on the typewriter table.

He was much distressed and laid his hand gently on her shoulder, but she only shivered under his touch and would not look up, so he went away and communicated with the shipping clerk. That gentleman evidently knew what to do, for after waiting a suitable length of time the bookkeeper followed him into the office and found him sitting on the table and Miss Dolly laughing and talking galy, with flushed cheeks and starry eyes.

Then one day came the news of the shipping clerk's promotion to a good position, a snug salary.

"He deserves it," the bookkeeper said, gently. "And I am so glad for your sake."

Miss Dolly turned on him.

"And why should it mean so much for me?" she demanded.

The bookkeeper floundered stupidly. He did not understand these bewildering woman's moods.

"I thought, you know, you acted as if it seemed like you cared. I—I thought you were in love with him."

"You seemed determined that I should be!" flashed Miss Dolly. Then she said softly: "I was in love—but not with him."

Her eyes were fixed dreamily on the purple clouds in the west, but there was something in her face that made the bookkeeper take a sudden stride toward her and cry out fiercely:

"Dolly! I have a right to know! Who was it that you were in love with?"

Then Dolly dropped her coquetries and lifted her clear eyes to his face and held out her hands.

"It was you," she said simply.

And the bookkeeper—well, no matter what he did.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A SUIT IN BLUE LINEN, FOR SUMMER GIRL.

Quite the smartest thing in the summer girl's whole wardrobe is her linen suit, and it is also the most comfortable.

The suit represented here is of blue linen with white trimmings. The materials and estimate of cost are:

12 yards navy blue linen at 50c yard	$6.00
24 yards narrow white braid at 4c a yard	.96
1 yard white pique	.35
Total	$7.31

The jacket is made in Eton style, with revers and cuffs heavily braided. The vest is of white pique and is perfectly plain. The skirt is made in the new seamless fashion, and fastens on the left side. It is also braided about the bottom.

This is an extremely serviceable suit and launders splendidly. A shirtwaist can be substituted fo the vest on occasions, or the vest may be omitted entirely and a shirt waist worn with the suit always.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS.

Grate one-half pound of chocolate, and heat it slightly in the oven; add one-quarter of a pound of butter, two ounces of sugar, and one-half a pint of cream. FRIENDLY, BUT IMPARTIAL.

An English Newspaper at Hong Kong Tells the Plain Truth About Mr. McKinley's War.

From the Honk Kong Telegraph.

There can be no possible room for doubt that the Americans will ultimately gain the day in the Philippines, but the present attitude of the Filipinos leads one to believe that it will only be gained by a war of extermination. And the question naturally arises as to whether the establishment of American rule throughout the islands is worth such an expensive war and also whether the ends to be gained would justify the means

The United States, we are told, are now busily bringing the blessings of a free and republican government to the Filipinos. At least that is supposed to be the reason for subduing the Philippines. But the Filipinos apparently do not want to be liberated any more than they have been, and are quite ready and willing to look after themselves and to dispense with the aid of the United States except as a protecting power.

If all that the Americans aim at is the establishment of an independent government under the protection of the United States, it does not appear to us that it is worth while to waste such a large amount of money and such hundred of lives in fighting the people whom they are apparently so anxious to befriend.

It would be far cheaper, and we believe far more satisfactory to a large proportion of the people of the United States, were honorable terms arranged with the Filipinos, and this war, which can certainly bring no glory to the American nation, brought to a satisfactory close.

As we have frequently pointed out, the whole blame for the present situation in the Philippines is attributable to the total lack of policy displayed by the Americans from the first. They did not know their own minds and allowed the Filipinos to see this plainly. What wonder then that the Filipinos should mistrust them now?

First Aguinaldo was to be treated as the trusted ally of the Americans, and he was so treated. Then arrived the American troops, and the Filipinos were ignored. Next the Filipinos were not offered any opportunity of expressing their views on the future of their country prior to the ratification of the peace treaty with Spain and of all that followed we are only too well aware.

The Americans have all along made the mistake of looking upon the Filipinos as savages and treating them as such, and now it is too late to mend matters.

At the commencement of the Spanish-American war the Americans had the trust and respect of the Filipinos, and a very small modicum of consideration and diplomacy would have enabled them to have retained those friendly feelings and to have been to-day in peaceful occupation of the country.

It must not be thought that we are antagonistic to the American cause; such is not the case; but we must say, and say plainly, that we are sorry to see that instead of the Filipinos being introduced to the benefits of peace and a just and civilized form of government, they are now likely to be cursed by a war of extermination, and all on account of the bungling and mismanagement of certain officials of the United States.

Had matters but been left in the hands of Admiral Dewey we do not for a moment believe that things would have come to such a pass. His upright sailor's nature would have guided him aright. But when matters are dealt with by consuls and diplomatists who are far from the scene of action and have no knowledge of the country or people to be dealt with, then disaster is only too frequently the result, as affairs in the Philippines have shown.

It Is Not Like Politics.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice in your issue of July 10 an editorial entitled "Spooks and Skeptics." Spiritualism is not like politics, never was and never will be I hope, and because Mr. Flammarion has made some mistakes, it does not follow that the cause is incorrect. Mr. Flammarion should have known better than to believe all spirits. I have long held to the knowledge that part of the phenomena is caused by one's own self. Of this I am satisfied. I speak from experience. Now, because Mr. Flammarion attributes some phenomena to self it does not follow that he has renounced the ism, neither does he claim to disbelieve in communion with the other world.

I have long known of Camille Flammarion and classed him among the great thinkers of the old world, but did not class him an avowed spiritualist, and do not think he was, but believe him to be an investigator. However, spiritualism will stand.

Cincinnati at Washington.

The St. Louis Club talks of signing Harley and Dowd, of the Clevelands.

Either man would strengthen the present St. Louis outfield.

Dowd especially would prove an addition to the St. Louis Club.

He is a good baserunner, a fine fielder and a very fair batsman.

In good company he has always played first rate ball and always held his own in hitting, baserunning and all other ends of the game. Beside that Dowd has a host of friends in St. Louis, and his presence on the home team would make it better understood and more popular than it is now.

The St. Louis meets the Brooklyn team on its own grounds this afternoon for the first time this year. It remains to be seen just what the locals will do playing the strongest team in the league in its own bailwick and the result is looked forward to with much interest by St. Louis followers of the game. If Tebeau's men can hold their own to-day then their friends will believe sure enough that there has come a change in the tide of their affairs and that they are a first class baseball team sure enough.

"In fielding sharp shots driven on a mean bound to the left side of the infield Billy Nash was the leader of all the third basemen, with the possible exception of Jimmy Collins," remarked Nick Young the other day. "Nash had a sprightly knack of retreating and seizing the ball on the backstep behind the base. Other third basemen may have been able to make this play as accurately and as often as Nash, but they couldn't drive the ball across the diamond on a long line throw, and Nash was at home in the throwing specialty. Jerry Denny was considered the equal of Nash as a third baseman. Jerry was a showier player, and made many a spectacular dive at the sphere with his dexterous one-hand play. These single-handed stops of Jerry's were never duplicated, but for a steady, every-day third base fielder I always gave Nash the preference. He was taller than Collins and heavier on his feet, and I doubt if he covered as much ground as his stocky little successor on the third bag of the champions. This point in the infield is harder to play of later years, because of the change in the pitcher's position, and it takes a game, cool chap to cover this sack, which is, all in all, the most difficult position on the diamond."

Louisville secured two new outfielders from the Atlantic League last week. Their names are Seybold and Dolon. Dolon played with the Colonels several years ago. It is predicted Seybold will succeed Hoy in center field. Pittsburg has obtained Pitcher Chesebro of the Richmond Club, which won the pennant in the Atlantic League.

The National League directors were to have met to-day in New York to pass on the $500 fine imposed on Freedman for taking his New York team off the field, but they have decided not to convene, and will let the case stand for a while. As the directors comprise such men as Brush, Hart, Vonderhorst and Robison, it is believed that Freedman will have to obey the rules, as he did in the case of the Holmes incident.

LIKE ANARCHIST CASE.

Precedent for Trial of the Miners Arrested in Idaho.

WALLACE, Io., July 11.—In the Paul Corcoran murder trial the Spies case in Chicago was referred to for a precedent. The State, it is said, proposes to prove a conspiracy to commit crimes of the character of that perpetrated at Wardner, on April 29, and the law laid down in the Chicago anarchist case will be very largely relied on.

The reference to the Spies case was when Acting County Attorney Forney, in his opening statement, told the judge the state would prove that the Western Federation of Labor advised such a general programme as that carried out on April 29. The defense objected. Mr. Forney said his proof was in documents found in the Miners' Union safe and captured at Burke. In the Spies case, he said, Herr Most's book was admitted, because it was found among the captured archives. The point raised was temporarily waived.

BIG VENTURE OF A ST. LOUISAN.

T. W. Crouch Buys 395,000 Cattle and Control 148,000 Acres.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 11.—T. W. Crouch of St. Louis has leased from the Board of Regents of the State University 104,000 acres of land in Iron and Crockett Counties. He has recently bought 44,000 acres of land in these two counties adjoining that which he is now leasing, and he proposes to start a cattle ranch. He has just closed a deal for 220,000 head of cattle in the Panhandle and has already a herd of 75,000 steers in the Indian Territory.

AFRAID TO TAKE THE OFFICE.

A Negro Declines Appointment as Postmaster in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—President McKinley a few days ago appointed Jack Bishop, a negro, as postmaster at White Oak. Bishop has declined the honor, because he feared he could not hold the office and live.

TO IMPROVE A GOOD SHIP.

Repairs of the Raleigh Will Make It Almost a New Vessel.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The cruiser Raleigh, which was with Dewey's fleet in the battle of Manila Bay, is to undergo extensive alterations involving an outlay of about $245,000, and including new boilers, new decks, the removal of the wood upper work, iron bulkheads, hatches and a better system of ventilation.

THE FATHER AND SON.

THE ELDER JEFFRIES AND HIS BOY MEET AT SAN FRANCISCO.

OLD MAN PROUD OF BIG JIM.

He Says He Would Rather Have Him an Honest Prize Fighter Than a Hypocritical Preacher.

Jim Jeffries, the champion pugilist of the world, was at home again.

Once the gangplank was lowered men began darting out of the crush to greet Jeffries. He began smiling with the joy of a boy with a new top.

Hands were extended from all directions, and he shook right and left like a popular candidate. The band struck up and he elbowed his athletic way to a carriage. Sam Thall, Alf Effinghouse, Harry Corbett, Alex Greggains and enough others to crowd five hacks, made up his train, and led by the band the triumphal procession pushed through the throng toward Market street. The people climbed upon the fences at the depot, the cars and the carriages.

"Good boy, Jeff!" was the first cry.

"Three cheers for the California boy!"

"You'll do 'em all!"

Men and boys hung on the back of his carriage. There was a movement to take out the horses, but it wasn't carried out. And through it all the fighter sat smiling and with an expression indicating that he was quite as much abashed as amused.

At the Palace Hotel another crowd collected. Prince Poniatowski, Lieutenant-Governor Neff, Congressman Julius Kahn and other notables who usually attract some attention passed unnoticed. In the rotundo was a gathering of clubmen and politicians. In swung the band and the carriages. Sergeant Michael Joseph Conboy and his squad beat back the mob.

"I don't see father," said Jeffries, as he left his carriage.

"He's handsome," chortled a pretty maid.

"It's a shame," retorted her mother, hustling her away.

The bellboys and the chambermaids, the waiters and the porters all dropped their work for a look at the great man. He registered quickly, left word to have all his friends shown to his room as soon as they inquired for him and was conducted to room 300 on the Stevenson street side of the third floor. Soon the boys were running with the champagne coolers and the levee was on.

"I wonder where father is?" inquired the big fellow, as he got ready for the night parade up Market street—the band, the shouting and the triumph.

The father was out at Woodward's pavilion. He was at his little meeting hall on Eighth street when Sam Thall came in and whispered:

"Jim wants to see you to-night."

"And I want to see Jim—and Jack, too," replied the exhorter. Then addressing the peopel assembled there he said:

"Brothers, I'll be back in 20 minutes. My son has sent for me and I want to see him out at the pavilion. I don't expect to stay for the knock-out, but I want to see the boys and I won't stay long."

"Getting into a carriage he was driven out to the pavilion. On the way he said:

"I'd rather have my son an honest prize fighter than a hypocritical preacher. I know he doesn't drink, neither does Jack; and they'll both behave themselves, even if they have to be fighters."

He reached the pavilion ahead of the procession which carried his triumphant boy. So he sat in a back room where fighters put on the finishing touches before going into the ring, and there he first met Jack, the younger boy, and evidently his favorite son. Then the champion appeared in the doorway.

At once the tall father jumped to his feet and a glad light came into his eyes. He burst into a laugh and kept on laughing in his joy. The preacher and the pugilist grasped hands heartily and looked each other in the eyes for an instant. It seemed for a moment as if they were about to engage in a romp, so full of fun they seemed. All the preacher dropped from the father's manner.

"How are you father?"

"How d'ye do, Jim?" Why, Jim, you look thin," he said with a trace of anxiety. "But you look natural," he added, as if a second glance assured him of the big boy's health. Then he felt of his son's arms, his hands moving with a parent's fondness.

"Yes, Jim; you're thin."

"Why, father, I weigh 240 again. I'm all right. How's ma, pa?"

"All well, Jim. Got a letter this morning and she was asking about you and Jack. You must have put your extra pounds on very soon, my boy. But let me see if you're well."

With this the strange old exhorter reached up and pinched the right ear of his giant son. The champion made a playful movement as if to square away for battle.

"You used to do me, pa, but I've got you skinned now," he chuckled, and then both burst into laughter.

The father and son pulled two stools together and sat close, the former devouring the latter with his eyes. Soon his attention was directed to the champion's little straw hat—a hat of the summer's New York fashion. He laughed at this and joked his son about it.

"Why, father, I had to get that in New York, you know," said Jim apologetically.

"But why didn't you get something else to come here with. I'll change with you. Here, take mine."

Here the elder man pulled the light straw from the champion's head and put in its place the great dusty slouch under which he already is becoming well-known in San Francisco. With this on Jim looked at once the same slouching Jeffries, the awkward boilermaker who came to San Francisco a few years ago looking for a fight. The old man sat alongside of him, the little fashionable wisp of straw perched above his long and heavy locks—rather a grotesque figure, but smiling in his happiness.

"You say mother is well?" inquired Jim.

"Yes, she's quite well. Of course, you're going down to see her?"

"Of course, I am, but I cannot stay as long as I wanted to. They've changed my programme."

Here the father transferred his attention to his younger son.

"Jack," he said, I suppose you had to take all the thumps down there at the training quarters."

"No, he didn't get it half as hard as I did," hastily put in the champion.

"Why, I understand you used to put it onto Jack pretty heavy sometimes," replied the preacher, and all those present roared at the easy manner in which the father lapsed into the argot of the ring. He laughed in his turn, and continued to regard his boy with admiring looks.—San Francisco Examiner.

The 20-round contest between Morris Rouch, of Chicago, and Casper Leon, of New York, to take place before the West End Club, has been postponed from Monday, July 17, to Monday, July 24. Rauch wants the additional time to train. He has promised to arrive in St. Louis on Thursday, July 20.

The twenty-round mill between Bob Douglas and Jim Scanlan has "flashed in the pan," according to President Haughton, of the West End Club, Douglas has declined the issue.

THE SPEEDY VERIFY.

RICHARD J.'S MEASURE TAKEN FOR THE THIRD TIME.

CONLEY OUTRODE BURNS.

Miss Mae Day, Ransom and Imp. Mint Sauce Were Among the Other Winners.

That speedy gelding, Verify, took that mighty sprinter, Richard J., into camp in the second race at the Fair Grounds, Monday.

This is the third time this season that the Cahn horse had defeated Richard J., but in every race something has happened that ruined the latter's chances.

Monday Richard J. was pocketed at the stable turn and this is given as an excuse for the big horse's poor showing.

Conley, who rode Verify, put up much the best ride and to him belongs the credit of Verify's winning.

Richard J.'s race last Saturday did not do him any good, and he received a poor ride from Burns.

Miss Mae Day, at 15 to 1, won the first race from Maud Wallace, and Arthur Behan.

The former was the best at these weights. Ned Dennis, the favorite, pulled up lame. El Caney is going back and showed no speed.

Ransom at last got off in front, and won a race. It was the third and Annie Oldfield was favorite. Ransom is in good shape now and easily won from Gaston and Oldfield.

Imp. Mint Sauce showed his heels to Our Gertie and W. Overton. The latter was asked to give away too much weight. Mint Sauce was the best.

Imp. King Gold won under a perfect ride from Barriso. He was pounds the best horse. Barriso ran his race. Chiffon was third. Lundia spread-eagled her field in the last race, winning easily from Sir Rollo and Eitholin. Butch Bard pulled up lame.

Tommy Burns could do no better than second twice, in six mounts Monday. This is a big fall for him.

While everything moves along in the Fair Grounds like clockwork there is a heap of trouble in the ring at Harlem. Jim O'Leary, veteran bookmaker, tells of the trouble in this way:

"Eight of my esteemed colleagues of the Western Turf Association, of which body, by the way, I am the President, petitioned John Condon a week ago last Wednesday not to allow me to draw in at Harlem. The reason advanced by the bookmakers, who sneaked around in the dark, was that I handled too much money at too liberal odds. They further informed Condon that if I drew in at Harlem they would not. Although the betting is supposed to be open, just to preserve peace and not break the game up, I quietly drew out when Condon put the matter before me. I am disgusted with the entire clique, and hardly think I will ever book there again."

According to men on the inside of the affair the entire matter started because O'Leary cornered the betting ring in one race, June 27. It was in a race won by The Devil, in which John Baker finished second and Lennep third. The ring laid 8 to 5 against The Devil and even money Lennep. O'Leary posted 3 to 1 Lennep, "hunched" the price against John Baker, and thereby got about all the money in the ring into his cash boxes on Lennep and Baker. He in the meantime was keeping hands off The Devil, while the other "bookies" were taking nothing but Devil money at odds ranging from 8 to 5 to 1 to 2. When it got to this price O'Leary posted 7 to 10 against The Devil. Then he had the ring cornered. The others had taken The Devil at longer odds, expecting to get Lennep and John Baker played. O'Leary had stolen a march by catching all that play. A majority had to lay off whatever Devil money they had taken at long odds with O'Leary at 7 to 10, because they could not get the second and third choices played.

More than half of the 72 races which were decided at Harlem in the last fortnight were monopolized by three boys. Nutt rode 17 winners, Rutter 11 and T. Knight 10, only leaving 34 to be divided among the remaining 83 boys who had mounts. Of these Dupee won four, and Everett, Beauchamp and J. Matthews three each.

The boys who have won three or more races since racing began on Decoration Day at Harlem are:

A game of little ball will be played next Sunday morning at Hall and St. Louis avenue for a $5 stake, between the El Meritos and Palms. Little ball is a game very much like cork ball. The bat used is not larger than a broomstick, while the ball weighs about an ounce. The El Meritos will play any four or five players in town. They line up: H. Varwig c, G. Jutze p, W. Meyers, L. Schelkle and Fred Hendricks fielders. Address all communication O. Weitkemper, No. 1305 Warren street.

THE NEW "PLUNGER."

STEVE L'HOMMEDIEU TELLS THE WORLD HOW TO BET.

CLOSE STUDENT OF HORSES.

One Week Ago To-Day He Won $35,000 From the Bookies Doing Business at Brighton Beach.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Steve L'Hommedieu, the new race track plunger, one week ago to-day was reported to have won $100,000 from the bookies.

Last night he said there was no truth to the $100,000 story, but he modestly admitted that he had won $35,000.

"It was a good day's work," he said, "in fact, about the best I have ever done in a day, but not worth getting excited over.

"Am I bothered by impecunious friends or 'strikers?' Not a bit. They know that it's no use. They know that winning money is my business, and I don't go around throwing money away just because I make a big winning any more than a merchant stakes every would-be borrower every time he collects a big bill.

"So you thought you'd find me 'opening wine' for a big crowd of hangers-on,' did you? Well, let me tell you a secret. I never buy wine when I win. I am more likely to do so when I lose.

"Betting on horses is my business, and I did not invest much money in it until I had studied it carefully. I conduct my business on business principles, and if in the future I should ever 'go broke' I will at least have had the same legitimate 'run for my money' that any merchant has..

"What advice would I give to one who wants to make money on the turf? That's hard to say. One of my rules is to take no advice, or rather, 'tips' from others, but to judge for myself. I never let myself get rattled because other people are plunging on other horses than those I have picked.

"Form is worth a whole lot more than so-called luck.

"I don't get excited over big winnings or depressed over big losings. When I have made up my mind that a certain horse has a good chance to win I put up as much money as I can spare to back it—taking good care to put a good share of the money for place and third.

"I don't believe in backing favorites. I want at least even money, and seldom bet unless I can get from 4 to 8 to 1 against. That's where the money comes in. Of course I make an exception in a case like that of Ethelbert on Tuesday. That was such a 'cinch' that I put up $12,000 to win $6000.

"I don't play every race. Unless I feel very confident of some one horse I let the race go by. It's much cheaper in the end. Of course I often lose. No man's judgment is perfect. But I make it up in the end.

"A man must have money to bet successfully—otherwise he is afraid to back his judgment at the right minute with a big pile and wipe out other losses.

"One of my biggest winnings on a single race was $20,000 on Banastar at the Brooklyn handicap.

"I don't rely on 100 to 1 shots. You can't place much money on such horses.

"Horse racing is as honest as any other business, and the bookmakers are as much to be trusted as ministers."

The following table will show L'Hommedieu's winnings on Monday:

First Race—Not played.
Second Race—The Booby, 4 to 1 (played straight and place)	$12,000
Third Race—Tragedian, 8 to 1	18,000
Fourth Race—Not played.
Fifth Race—Ordeal, even money, place	2,500
Sixth Race—Wolhurt, even, place	2,500
Total	$35,000

L'Hommedieu is 33 years of age. He is a muscular young man with a square head, a strong chin and nose and clear blue eyes. His face denotes strength of character and honesty. He doesn't boast of his winnins, and his statements were made in a clear, business-like manner.

He is reputed to be worth $500,000, but lives modestly enough in a little frame cottage on Twenty-first street, Sheepshead Bay. As a rule he retires early, frequently at 8 o'clock, and is up before the sun. He takes racing seriously.

Sloan Wins as Usual.

LONDON, July 11.—Tod Sloan won a maiden plate at Newmarket to-day on Perdicus. Donizetti was second and Ravager third in a field of 16. The betting was 5 to 4 against Perdicus.

A trial plate of 200 sovereigns was won by W. Blake's aged chestnut horse, Bedlight. Lord William Beresford's Manatee, with Sloan up, was second and Joe Ullman, ridden by L. Reiff, finished third. Eleven horses ran the Banbury mile (a straight mile). The betting was 2 to 1 against Manatee.

Sloan won the Soltykoff Stakes on Siloah. Lady Schomberg was second and Gosander third. Twelve horses ran. The betting was 5 to 1 against Siloah.

GOLD FROM KLONDIKE.

Miners From Dawson Bring $1,000,000 Out of the Mines.

VICTORIA, July 11.—The steamer Queen arrived here to-night with 350 passengers—excursionists, returning miners from Dawson and some disappointed prospectors from Atlin—and gold, variously estimated from $350,000 to $1,000,000. The captain is authority for the latter amount, the passengers placing the treasure at almost any sum between the two figures. The Queen left Juneau Saturday, 7 a. m., making the trip in the quick time of 65 hours.

Among the wealthiest men from Dawson is John Wilkinson, who brings 200 pounds of gold dust from Eldora and Bonanza. S. T. Hill, a mining expert from South Africa, returned after making a flying trip to Dawson. He brought out $10,000 in dust.

Charles V. Parker of Toronto came down on the verge of death from consumption and scurvy. He was transferred to an ambulance and taken to a steamer leaving for Vancouver to-night in an effort to reach home before he dies. Dr. Mathilda Wallin will accompany him on his journey home. Parker had an awful trip from the interior, arriving at Skaguay broke. The passengers on the Queen raised a collection to pay his passage home.

Among the passengers are Hon. Z. E. Payne, son and daughter; Congressman and Mrs. Dalsell, Congressman and Mrs. Hull, Congressman and Mrs. G. W. Steele and Congressman John P. Heatwole, who have made the round trip. Congressman Payne expresses himself immensely delighted with the trip. He says, although he had not much time to investigate, he has taken some opportunity to inquire into the Alaskan boundary question to enable him to form a more correct opinion on that vexed question.

Congressman Hull says every man in both houses should make a trip to Alaska, the boundless possibilities of which impressed him. The party are enthusiastic about their reception all along the line.

LEXOWING COMES HIGH.

Claims of Acquitted New York Officials Aggregate Nearly a Million.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Police Captain Chapman, who was placed on trial by the Police Commissioners a couple of years ago in connection with the Seeley dinner raid at Sherry's, has presented a claim for $11,500 for expenses incurred in defending his action in making the raid. The claim is one of twenty made under the Ahearn law, which provides for the reimbursement of public officials who are tried for malfeasance and are not found guilty. These twenty claims aggregate $114,000, and enough are to follow to make the cost to the State nearly $1,000,000.

The Controller of New York City is preparing to contest the validity of the Ahearn bill.

It is untimely, however, that any change in the existing law will be sanctioned by the Republican majority.

BLOOD POISON

Primary, Secondary or Tertiary Syphilis permanently cured in 15 to 35 days. You can be treated at home for the same price under same guaranty. If you prefer to come here we will contract to pay railroad fare and hotel bills, and no charge if we fail to cure. If you have taken mercury, iodide potash and still have aches and pains, mucous patches in the mouth, sore throat, pimples, copper colored spots, ulcers on any part of the body, hair or eyebrows falling out, it is this syphilitic BLOOD POISON that we guarantee to cure. We solicit the most obstinate cases and challenge the world for a case we cannot cure. This disease has always baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians. $500,000 capital behind our unconditional guaranty. Absolute proofs sent sealed on application. It Goes Backwards!

A new freak was discovered the other day in the drinking water of Newark, N. J. 200 were found in a half pint of water! They swim tail first and have a fondness for hanging head downward, with just the tip of the tail projecting into the air. The local health office has named them "Retrogradus."

• • • •

Are YOU with the "Retrogradus" class—afraid to show your face? Are you going backward—retrograding—from a better to a worse state? If so, get out of it before it's too late.

P.-D. Wants and all who regularly read and use them do NOT belong to the "Retrogradus" class, because they MOVE FORWARD!

The MERCHANT who ADVERTISES in the great SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH could NOT remain in the "Retrogradus" class even if he wanted to—the rush of business resulting therefrom carries him onward and upward to fortune.

Try it and be convinced.

HE FOUGHT A POLICEMAN.

Frank M. Shipley Charged With Disturbing the Peace of Patrolman Thomas Barrett.

Frank M. Shipley, a young man of wide acquaintance, who until recently was general local agent for the New York Life Insurance Co., was arraigned in the Second District Police Court Monday on a charge of disturbing the peace. The case was continued.

Policeman Thomas Barrett claimed that Shipley created a disturbance Monday afternoon in front of the Fourth District Substation, Jefferson avenue and Dayton street. The policeman says he cautioned him to be quiet, whereupon, he asserts, Shipley cursed him. The officer seized Shipley's arm, and a fight ensued. Barrett was thrown to the ground, but he arose and arrested Shipley, who gave bond.

Shipley lives at 4414 St. Ferdinand street. He says the policeman was to blame for the trouble, but declines to go into details.

NEW RAILROAD COMMITTEE.

Southwestern Roads Organizing and Drawing an Agreement.

Executive officers of a majority of the lines in the Southwestern Bureau met at their headquarters in the Union Trust Building Tuesday, for the purpose of organizing a Southwestern Freight Committee to take the place of the present bureau.

Chairman E. T. Campbell called the meeting to order, with representatives of the following railroads present: St. Louis & San Francisco, Rock Island, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain, and the St. Louis Southwestern. The meeting was held behind closed doors, those present being engaged in drawing up the articles of agreement on which the new committee will be organized.

Chairman Campbell said the result of the meeting would probably not be made public before evening. He said the new committee would be organized so as not to conflict with the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court bearing on such associations. The purpose of the committee, among other things, will be to make public tariffs and provide for the announcement, before going into effect, of changes in rates, etc.

THE HARTUNGS' TRIAL BEGUN.

Father and Son Charged With Killing John Ellston.

The trial of Hugo and Anton Hartung for the killing of John Ellston was begun in the Circuit Court at Clayton Tuesday. The courtroom was crowded from the time the doors were opened.

Hugo is the son of Anton Hartung. The killing occurred at Bridgeton last May. The tragedy was the result of a dispute over the payment of a few cents for drinks.

The trial will probably occupy the court during the rest of the week. The morning's session was consumed in the work of selecting a jury. Fifty special jurors had been summoned to appear in court Tuesday morning to qualify.

WILL MAINTAIN THE TARIFFS.

Western and Southwestern Railroads Held a Conference.

The executive officers of thirty-five Western and Southwestern railroads met at the Southern Hotel Tuesday morning for a conference over the general situation.

Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission was present and addressed the meeting. After a lengthy discussion it was agreed at noon to stand by the tariffs as they are now.

The conference continued in executive session Tuesday afternoon.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, July 11.

It became more and more apparent this morning that a considerable interest was opposed to the bulling of wheat on any consideration. A great many traders usually on the buying side were directing their efforts to depressing wheat in order that they might cover. It was a surprising fact that the Government report had no noticeable effect on either wheat or corn. The former opened ⅛c higher, but declined at once, and at the end of the first hour the market had shown a decline of ⅝c. Northwestern receipts and the crop reports from the same section also had a depressing effect.

The Weather—Generally fair to-night and Wednesday; continued warm. The pressure is highest over the East and lowest over Southeast Montana. Precipitation occurred in Western Texas, New Mexico and Alabama. Elsewhere generally fair and warmer weather prevails.

WHEAT.

Despite the apparently bullish Government report, showing a condition of 65.6 on winter wheat and 91.7 on spring, the market failed to advance this morning and the session was one of the dullest in weeks. Heavy receipts in the Northwest, big farm rumors from last year's crip and a general feeling that the supply would meet all demands, militated against higher prices in domestic markets.

Cables were all lower, despite the fact that the Government report reached foreign markets yesterday. Liverpool opened unchanged and closed ⅛d higher than yesterday's close. Paris closed 5 centimes lower on July. In the local pit there was practically no trading. Several times the pit was deserted and the attitude of both bulls and bears was one of listlessness. There seemed to be no outside speculation and many of the big traders were on a vacation, which curtailed operations to a considerable extent.

September opened ⅛c up, at 74⅞c, but started down at once, dropping to 74⅝c early. Later the market strengthened to 74⅝@74⅞c on buying to cover.

Interest in July was on the wane. There was a sale at 73⅝c, but the trend of the market later was weak.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 950,000 bushels, as compared with 125,000 bushels same date last year.

Shipments 714,000 bushels, compared with 152,000 bushels same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 665 cars, compared with 38 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis to-day were 62,775 bushels, compared with 24,953 bushels same date last year. Of these 1490 sacks and 38 cars were local, compared with 4868 sacks and 20 cars same date last year.

CORN.

The market was dull and neglected, with no trading. September had a bid of 32⅞c. December was offered successively at 31⅝c, 31⅝c and 31½c, with no takers.

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 883,000 bu, as compared with 274,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 1,085,000 bu, compared with 571,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 28,065 bu, compared with 4885 bu same date last year. Of these 26 sacks and 34 cars were local, compared with 754 sacks same date last year.

OATS.

July sold at 23⅛c and later at 23c. There was an offer of September at 20⅛c.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 37,605 bu, compared with 12,410 bu same date last year. Of these 81 sacks and 24 cars were local, compared with 82 sacks and 10 cars same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Dullness and uncertainty characterized trading in wheat to-day. September opened ⅛c below yesterday's close at 72⅞@73c. It sold up to 73⅛@73¼c, then declined slowly to 72⅝@72⅞c. Later it reacted to 73⅛c, and became fairly steady at that price. The Government report was not so bearish as anticipated, showing little change. Shorts continued to exhibit confidence in their position in regard to Sepstember wheat and moderate buying from this source on the declines served to sustain the market. Northwest receipts were again large, 657 cars, compared with 71 last year. Local receipts were 131 cars, 5 of contract grade.

Liverpool opened unchanged to ⅛d higher, probably on account of the report that Russia, owing to the damaged crops, would doubtlessly soon prohibit the exportation of cereals.

Corn opened practically unchanged at 33⅝c and sold up to 34⅛c, with very slow trading. The Government was about as expected. Receipts were 1105 cars. Oats were dull and easy. September opened a shade lower at 20⅛@20⅜c and declined to 20⅛c. Local receipts were 474 cars.

Provisions were strong. The general demand was good, packers being prominent buyers. September pork sold 5c higher at $8.85, September lard 5c higher at $5.40 and September ribs 5c better at $5.15.

Is There Any Good Reason Why

You should forever continue renewing the loan on your home, paying interest and commissions, and never paying the principal?

The best and most popular plan provides for a definite number of convenient payments, made monthly. By this method both the principal debt and the interest charge are reduced each month until the whole amount is paid.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The continued uneasiness over the Transvaal situation abroad was reflected in some portions of the list at the opening of the stock markets, while some stocks showed sharp gains. St. Paul was up ⅝ on its statement of earnings for the first week in July. Manhattan and Brooklyn Rapid Transit showed a strong recovery from yesterday's depression. A number of other railroad stocks advanced in sympathy with St. Paul.

Sugar, after its fractional decline, rose 1½, and the local New York stocks extended their rise. Pretty much the whole market took up the advance, but it came to a sudedn stop without any selling pressure. The bulls seemed in a hesitating mood.

The continued stiffness of call money checked the manifest tendency to advance until near noon, when strength in New York Central and Pennsylvania spread throughout the list. Trunk lines, grangers, Atchison preferred, Sugar and the local traction stocks all rose a point or over from the lowest on a moderate volume of dealings. Sales of stocks to noon 174,822 shares.

Clorado Fuel and Tennessee Coal rose 2¼@2⅞ and American Steel and Wire 2 points. Chesapeake & Ohio touched 29 and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis and Lake Erie & Western preferred rose 1⅛ and 2⅝, respectively. The market then became dull and yield ed a fraction all around on professional realizing. The closing was quiet and firm at marked net gains throughout.

THINKS IT LEON BLUM

THE BODY FOUND IN THE RIVER AT FESTUS, MO.

MR. WELLHOUSE'S STATEMENT.

He Last Saw Blum on July 3, and Gave Him the Card Which Was on the Body When Discovered.

W. J. Wellhouse, of Salveter & Stewart, is certain that the body taken from the river at Herculaneum, Mo., July 6, is that of Leon Blum, who disappeared from St. Louis July 3.

On the lapel of the coat was an Elk button, and Coroner T. B. Taylor, at Festus, Mo., notified David B. Aloe, Exalted Ruler of the St. Louis Elks lodge, thinking that the dead man might have been an Elk who met his death while attending the reunion at St. Louis.

On the body were found two cards, one of W. J. Wellhouse and the other of Dr. D. F. Hochdoerfer, 1806 South Broadway and 3410 California avenue. The body was fairly well dressed and in appearance and clothing answers the description of Mr. Blum when he was last seen.

Blum's recent history would seem to lend confirmation to the identification, since his saloon business at Boadway and Walnut had recently failed. Mr. Wellhouse last saw Mr. Blum on the evening of July 3.

"Our store kept open that evening," he said, "and I was on my way to supper at a restaurant opposite the Planter's Hotel on Fourth street. I met Blum, and as I had recently changed positions I gave him my new business card. He took it, in a dazed way, and stopped to read it. As far as I could see him he was still standing at the corner of Fourth and Pine streets, reading my card. I thought his conduct strange at the time, and when I heard he had disappeared I was not surprised. His disapearance, his strange actions when I saw him and the fact that my card was found on the body convince me that the corpse found at Herculaneum is that of Mr. Blum. I had seen in the paper that his saloon at Broadway and Walnut streets had failed and surmised that he was in financial distress.

"Mr. Blum at one time kept a cigar store at Fourth and Walnut street. Later, when 'Bulfy' Busch, now deceased, purchased the old Brunswick saloon at Broadway and Walnut and rechristened it the New Brunswick, he put Mr. Blum in to run it. I saw in the paper recently that the business had failed. Mr. Blum was a friend of the Buschs and the Forster brothers."

How to Reach Two Famous Resorts.

An Outing Hint from Outing.

Fast, safe, superbly equipped and most carefully governed, one need not wonder at the great popularity of the New York Central. No other line affords such facilities for through travel between the East and the West as this wonderful tour-track system. In the possession of Grand Central Station, located in the heart of New York City, and within trifling distances of all first-class hotels, this railway offers greater advantages than competing lines. Spring, summer, autumn and winter, it has attractions irresistible. The great Northern wilderness, the playground of the State, now beckons its thousands. As autumn falls America's scenic masterpiece, far-famed Niagara, will claim its annual host of pilgrims with its majestic power, the fierce turmoil of the Whirlpool and all the picturesque surroundings, the awesome Cave of the Winds and the several other minor attractions of the vicinity. And when winter comes then the entire scene transformed to what seems a fairyland of marvelous frost dressings of icy forts and snowy palaces; of gleaming, crystal prison barriers vainly striving to bind the roaring, foaming plunge of water—will present a spectacle of weird, mysterious, beauty which is not duplicated in the world.—Outing.

BRIDGE PLANS CHANGED

New Board of Engineers Ordered to Make the Spans 500 Feet Instead of 700 Feet.

As announced Monday by the Post-Dispatch, Secretary of War Alger has appointed a new Board of Engineers to report upon the third bridge project, with instructions to base their calculations upon 500-foot instead of 700-foot spans.

The Secretary's action, following Congressman Joy's presentation of the case of the promoters, is a turn-down for the old Board of Engineers, which recommended that a 700-foot span be required. This board was composed of Col. Stickney, Col. Abbott and Col. Humphrey.

Such a requirement practically put a stop to the third bridge scheme, because of the cost of construction of a bridge of 700-foot spans. Congressman Joy hastened to protest against the finding of the board. He had a long conference with Secretary Alger. Mr. Joy showed the Secretary that adherence to the finding of the board was equivalent to a refusal of permission to build the bridge.

Monday Congressman Joy, Congressman Rodenburg of East St. Louis and ex-Congressman Forman of East St. Louis called on the Secretary to further protest against the finding of the board. They found that the Secretary had been convinced by Congressman Joy's previous argument. He sent for Gen. Wilson, Chief of Engineers, and after some argument, in which Gen. Wilson strenuously opposed disapproval of the board's finding, the Secretary disapproved it and ordered that Col. Ernst, Major Miller and Major Allen be detailed to sit as a board to make a new report.

In making this order the Secretary indicated plainly that the board must consider only the 500-foot span bridge. The new board will make up its report without coming to St. Louis, from the evidence presented to the new board and other material furnished by the promoters of the third bridge.

The action of the Secretary puts new life into the third bridge movement and its promoters on both sides of the river are jubilant over the turn of events.

WRECKED ST. LOUIS TEACHERS.

Bodies of Miss Harris and Mrs. Lena Thomas Shipped to This City for for Interment.

The collision of a Southern Pacific passenger train, loaded with school teachers from St. Louis, with a freight train, near Newman, Cal., Monday morning resulted, as told exclusively in the first edition of Monday's Post-Dispatch in the death of Miss Addie Harris of 1325 Dillon street, St. Louis, and of Mrs. Lena Thomas, mother of Miss Elizabeth White of St. Louis. The rumor of the death of Miss White was occasioned by a confusion of her name with that of her mother.

Miss Harris lived with her aged mother, her sisters and brothers. She was 36 years old and had taught school 15 years. Her remains have been shipped to this city.

The list of injured included quite a number from St. Louis, but the telegraph states that none of the hurts are at all serious. The railway company settled with a number of teachers, paying them cash.

Miss Elizabeth White of St. Louis was cut in the head, but only slightly. She is a daughter of Mrs. Lena Thomas, who was killed. Mrs. Melinda Calvert's foot was badly hurt and she lost all her clothing. Miss Wehmiller's back was hurt, but she was able to walk. Miss Edna English's ankle was so badly sprained that she had to be carried from the train. Edwin D. Luckey, who had charge of the party, was badly shaken up. Miss Harris was instantly killed, the side of her head being crushed in. She was taken out dead. Mrs. Thomas, an elderly lady, lived about five minutes after being taken from the wreck, but did not speak. Mrs. Lena Thomas came from Seneca Falls, N. Y., to St. Louis to meet her daughter and take the trip to Los Angeles.

All unite in praising the courage and coolness of Miss Elizabeth White of St. Louis, whose mother was killed. She was asleep in the same berth with Miss Addie Harris, who was killed instantly. Miss White was thrown over Miss Harris and carried down the car for three sections. There she was wedged tightly among the wrekage. When the trainmen came in she gave them orders how to reach her and how they could free her most easily. Her mother lived for only a moment, but the few words that she spoke were appeals to the men to do everything they could to save her daughter.

THIRD VICTIM OF THE FOURTH.

Adolph Hunt Dies of a Wound Received on Independence Day.

Adolph Hunt, 38 years old, assistant foreman of engine company No. 16, is the third victim of Mayor Ziegenhein's "wide-open" Fourth of July:

Hunt died Monday night at his residence, 3909 Iowa avenue, from lockjaw, which resulted from injuries received on the Fourth.

Hunt was on his way home to dinner on that day, when, as he was passing the saloon of Joseph Mogler, 1622 South Broadway, he was struck in the calf of the left leg by a bullet fired by Christ Nauber of 1608 South Broadway.

Lockjaw set in, and the efforts of physicians were useless. Nauber has been arrested.

FARRIS AN OPEN CANDIDATE.

Laclede County Democrats Will Support Him for Nomination to Succeed Bland.

John W. Farris of Laclede County, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives and close personal friend of the late Congressman Richard P. Bland, is an avowed candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Bland district. He is supported by the Democrats of his own county, who believe that he can be nominated, and that his nomination would most nearly meet the desires of Mr. Bland.

The Democratic Congressional committee meets at Jefferson City Tuesday and a big delegation from Laclede County is in attendance, determined to secure every possible advantage for Capt. Farris. They urge that the district convention be held at Lebanon, July 25, the date in which Mr. Bryan is engaged to speak there. The Laclede County men ask that the convention be held at Lebanon in deference to the memory of Bland, who represented the district so many years.

The Laclede County committee met Monday at Lebanon and called a convention to meet Saturday, July 22, at which delegates to the Congressional convention will be selected. The committee also elected A. W. Bradshaw, editor of the Lebanon Rustic, to succeed his brother, J. T. Bradshaw, as Congressional committeeman for Laclede County.

The Farris following is active and determined, and as its strength is partly sentimental, based on the memory of Bland and Capt. Farris' friendship for the dead leader, it is expected to be a serious factor in the race for the nomination.

WANTS TO QUIT BUSINESS.

Another Meeting of the Consolidated Elevator Company.

Stockholders of the St. Louis Consolidated Elevator Co. met Tuesday afternoon to consider the future of the company. At meetings held Monday a desire was expressed to turn the great properties over to the bondholders, so that the company might discontinue business. Later it was discovered there were legal obstacles to this course of procedure and the conference of Tuesday was for the purpose of determining how the company could legally retire.

NIANTIC STRIKE AT AN END.

Operators Have Agreed to Pay the Scale Fixed at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 11.—W. D. Ryan, State Secretary of the United Mine Workers of Illinois and the Niantic Cone Co. have sbigned the scale fixed at the Springfield convention of 30 7-10 cent sfor machine mining, equivalent to 40 7-10 cents for hand mining, and the strike, which has been in progress for nine months, is ended.

IN THE HANDS OF A RUFFIAN.

Mrs. William Muehlherr's Terrible Experience.

PULLED A ROBBER'S BEARD.

HE WAS TOO STRONG FOR THE BELLEVILLE WIDOW.

When She Awoke a Big Powerful Man Was in Her Room and After She Gave Him Her Money He Mistreated Her.

The home of Mrs. William Muehlherr of Belleville was entered at midnight Monday by a burglar. He compelled her to give him her savings assaulted her.

Mrs. Muehlherr is a widow, her husband having died last April. Since then she has been living with her 6-year-old son at her home, 501 South Charles street, supporting the boy and herself by taking in washing.

The house is a one-story frome. The second room from the front is occupied by Mrs. Muehlherr and the boy as a sleeping apartment.

About midnight Mrs. Muehlherr was awakened by the key of the door between her bedroom and the parlor turning in the lock. She sat up in bed. A lamp had been left burning dimly on the washstand. By its light she saw, a tall, heavy-set, bearded man, standing by the door.

She was too badly frightened to scream. He made a threatening gesture and stepped to the washstand and blew out the light.

Going to the side of the bed, he said in an apparently disguised voice: "Give me your money and be quick. If you make a fuss I will kill you."

Mrs. Muehlherr said she would give him every cent she had if he wold not harm her.

"Well, hurry up and get the money," he said, " and I won't hurt you."

Mrs. Muehlherr went to a closet in the room and got her savings, which amounted to $10. She handed it to him.

"Is that all you've got?" he asked.

She declared she had no more.

With an oath he seized her and a desperate struggle ensued. He tried to tie her hands behind her, but did not succeed. Mrs. Muehlherr was no match for the man, though, and after mistreating her he sprang out of the north window of the kitchen, through which he had entered, after cutting the slats and removing the screen.

When Mrs. Muehlherr struck a light she found that before she had awakened the man had gone through the drawers of the washstand, but had found nothing but wearing apparel.

He was unlocking the door to the parlor when Mrs. Muehlherr awoke. She thinks that the man knew she had received insurance money from the Bricklayers' Union, of which her husband was a member, and that he was looking for this money. The money had been used for funeral expenses and only $10 had been saved.

Mrs. Muehlherr did not get a good look at the man's face, but she thinks she could identify him. She pulled out part of his beard in the struggle.

Mrs. Muehlherr is now under the care of Dr. A. B. Gunn. Besides the nervous shock she has many bruises from being thrown against the stove and furniture.
